British Airplane Off China Fired On and U.S. Launch Seized

Unidentified Warship in Incident Involving Fliers Near Hongkong

Washington Is Asking About Shanghai Affair

HONGKONG (CP-Havas)—A British naval plane attached to the aircraft carrier Eagle was fired on while in flight during exercises near Hongkong Tuesday by an unidentified warship. Although it was first reported the plane was hit, it was subsequently learned the ship escaped unscathed.

Naval authorities immediately began an investigation.

SHANGHAI (AP)—United States Consul-General Clarence E. Gauss protested to the Japanese consulate here Tuesday after a Japanese naval crew had seized an American-owned steam launch and lowered the craft's United States flag.

The launch, owned by the China Foreign Steamship Company, a United States firm and agent of the Roosevelt Line, was seized as it lay off the French Bund.

William Hunt, steamship company head, protested strongly to Consul Gauss against seizure of the launch. He declared the Japanese had "rough-housed" the Chinese crew aboard the launch and then "deliberately pulled down the flag and tossed it in the river."

It was understood Italian authorities also protested against seizure of two vessels flying the Italian flag.

REPORT AWAITED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department withheld comment today on the reported seizure of an American launch by Japanese authorities at Shanghai pending receipt of a full report of the incident from United States consular officials.

Papers Seized In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Quebec provincial police officers seized 700 copies of the Communist newspaper The Clarion being unloaded today from a Toronto train.

The copies were taken to police headquarters, where Crown Prosecutor Oscar Gagnon said seizures of Communist literature and propaganda would continue until further orders were received from the Attorney-General's department at Quebec.

Currency Theme Of Commission

Dominion-Provincial Relations Board Discusses Manitoba Views

WINNIPEG (CP)—If Canada had depreciated her currency during the depression the advantage to the west would have been greater than any disadvantage to eastern Canada, Prof. A. R. Upgren, University of Minnesota economist, told the Rowell Commission here today.

The five-man board, which opened its hearings Monday, quickly swung into its stride in its historic task of re-examining the whole structure of government in the Canadian federation. Prof. Upgren contended eastern Canada bore the brunt of the Canadian monetary policy. Australia had sought to spread the burden over all sections of the country by depreciating its currency 20 per cent, he added.

"OPEN DOOR" IN CHINA CLOSING

Washington Hears Japan Cuts Duties on Own Goods in North

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department asked its consular representatives in China today for information on a report customs rates at Tientsin, north China port, had been reduced on a wide range of Japanese products.

If the report should prove correct, informed sources said, it would mean Japan already has started closing the "open door" of commercial equality in China for all foreign nations.

Fears here for the future of China's "open door" already had prompted the United States government to warn Japan not to attempt changes in the Chinese maritime customs system before consulting Washington.

The Japanese military now exercises control over most of north China and Shanghai, China's wealthiest seaport.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull revealed at a press conference the United States Government was making inquiries concerning the Tientsin report although he withheld comment.

NEW CHIEF JUSTICE

BELFAST (CP)—Sir William Moore, Lord Chief Justice of Northern Ireland, retired today. Succeeding him is Lord Justice Andrews.

ORPHANAGE IS BOMB TARGET

SHANGHAI (AP)—The French ambassador said Tuesday Japanese bombs had destroyed a Catholic orphanage at Kashing and killed 86 Chinese children. He also said 150 refugees, four French sisters and five Chinese sisters who were at the orphanage were missing.

The reports came as the Japanese forces continued their advance on Nanking. The Chinese defenders of the almost deserted capital were reported falling back to a line 40 to 60 miles east and southeast of the city with Japanese columns in pursuit.

Vancouver Fog Injuries 14

VANCOUVER (CP)—Heavy fog which shrouded low-lying parts of the British Columbia lower mainland today resulted in injuries to 14 persons here and at nearby New Westminster and slowed automobile and waterborne traffic to a virtual standstill.

By noon the fog had lifted in parts of Vancouver, but remained heavy over the water. Several deep-sea freighters were waiting in English Bay for clearer weather before proceeding into Burrard Inlet.

Most seriously injured was F. Beavor, hurt when two automobiles and a truck figured in an accident on the new Pattullo Bridge, over the Fraser River at New Westminster.

A Friendly Handclasp After the Battle

During the height of the enthusiasm at Liberal Headquarters last night a portly figure appeared at the door and immediately a lane was opened between the great crowd. It was B. A. McKelvie, defeated Conservative candidate, who wished to offer his congratulations to the victor, R. W. Mayhew. Mr. McKelvie spoke briefly and was then called back to the platform to have his picture taken with Mr. Mayhew, by The Times cameraman. The crowd cheered wildly at the friendly gesture. Mr. Mayhew is on the left in the above picture.

SAANICH LOSES LOVED VICAR

Rev. J. S. A. Bastin of St. Stephen's Dies in Jubilee Hospital

Rev. J. S. A. Bastin, vicar of St. Stephen's Church, South Saanich, for 18 years, passed away early this morning in the Jubilee Hospital, where he had been a patient for the last week. Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 at St. Stephen's, and interment will be in the churchyard.

John Somers Archibald Bastin was born in Worcester, England, on December 31, 1871. He entered St. Paul's Missionary College, Bournemouth, in 1892, to train for the Anglican priesthood, and was ordained in Lincoln Cathedral as a deacon in 1894, and two years later as a priest. From 1894 to 1901 he served as a missionary for the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel at St. Paul's Church, Lytton, B.C., and then returned to England to become curate at Wantage, Berks, for a year, being subsequently made rector of Southampton and Queensbury, Hampshire, from 1902 to 1904.

In that year he returned to Canada to become curate at Woodstock, N.B., and in the following year was transferred to Cranbrook as rector. In 1906 Mr. Bastin again went back to England to become incumbent of St. John Evangelist Church at Clifton, Bristol, where he remained for four years, returning to Canada in 1910.

He was incumbent of Salt Spring Island from 1910 to 1917, when he was appointed to Cobble Hill and Shawnigan Lake Parish, and in 1919 became vicar of south Saanich, where he remained until his death. A man of sterling qualities and charm, Mr. Bastin was

Mining Committee of House Hears $1,389,000 Put Into Company

Statements that a syndicate which went to the assistance of B.C. Nickel mine in 1933 has made a real effort to protect the minority shareholders and is now owed $1,389,986 in its advances to the company featured the company's reply this morning before the mining committee of the British Columbia Legislature to allegations of Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F. Vancouver. East, that "B.C. Nickel will bear watching."

Dr. Telford, enlarging his allegations before the committee, said while he never disputed that B.C. Nickel was a good mine, he believed the financial operations had the appearance of "a gigantic swindle on the investing public."

W. B. Farris, K.C., counsel for the company, retorted hotly, after reviewing the financial set-up: "If this is swindling the public, I hope we will have many more swindlers like these men and we'll get some real development work done in this province, instead of harsh, harping, unjustifiable, false criticism of honest men's endeavors," said Mr. Farris.

The mining committee for three hours this morning heard the financial details of the company, first as interpreted by Dr. Telford, then fully explained by the company. Col. Victor Spencer, president of the company, and A. H. Douglas, vice-president, and a representative of the minority shareholders were present and Mr. Douglas was giving evidence when the hearing was adjourned until Wednesday of next week.

Dr. Telford based his main statements on a prospectus which he said was issued by the Vancouver Stock and Bond Company on behalf of B.C. Nickel and which represented that the company had $2,000,000 available for development.

DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

Mr. Douglas said the company was in no way responsible for the

DROP OF FORTY FEET IS FATAL

Lindsay F. Towler Succumbs to Injuries Sustained in Fall at V.M.D.

Lindsay F. Towler, Royal Oak, died this afternoon in St. Joseph's Hospital as the result of an accident at the Victoria Machinery Depot this morning in which he and a fellow workman dropped 40 feet from a scaffolding onto a pile of scrap iron.

The other man was David Fanthorpe, 3048 Carroll Street, who suffered a fractured leg and back injuries.

Towler's skull was fractured and he sustained other severe injuries. Little hope was held out for his recovery after his removal to the St. Joseph's Hospital.

According to a city police report Towler and Fanthorpe were working on a scaffold rigging slings when the accident occurred. Police did not know whether they slipped while working or whether a moving crane struck the scaffolding.

Towler was taken to the hospital in the C. & C. ambulance, and Fanthorpe was removed to the Jubilee Hospital in the police ambulance.

Mayhew's Win At Polls Ends Twenty-nine Years Of Conservative Victories

"Happy Days Are Here Again" Liberals Sing at Enthusiastic After-poll Victory Celebration, With Fred McGregor Master of Ceremonies

McKelvie Cheered Greeting Winner

"Happy Days Are Here Again" was the theme song of the enthusiastic victory meeting at Liberal headquarters last night. From 7.30 when the success of the Liberal candidate, R. W. Mayhew, was assured until midnight the main room was packed to the doors, with those who failed to gain admission waiting for someone to leave to find a place inside.

Community singing made the rafters ring as Liberals who for 29 years had watched Conservative torchlight parades to mark Conservative victories had the opportunity to celebrate a triumph instead.

The candidate was cheered to the echo. Workers who had played a part in the memorable victory were cheered and thanked. Speakers were called to the platform for short addresses between the vociferous community singing and among them was Bruce McKelvie, the Conservative candidate.

The sportsmanship that prompted him to visit Liberal headquarters appealed to the great crowd, and although defeated, he went home with applause ringing in his ears from Liberals appreciative of his congratulations to their candidate.

EVERYONE HAPPY

With an orchestra at his command, Fred McGregor, wreathed in smiles, led community singing, and when he was hoarse other workers came to his rescue. Men and women at the rear of the hall mounted tables to better view the proceedings, and they needed no other introduction than that of being Liberals sharing in a victory to shake hands and celebrate like old time friends.

The women in the triumph took no second place to the men. Lifting sopranos and vibrant contraltos mingled with tenors and bass voices to the theme song, to "Pack Up Your Troubles," the "More We Are Together" and "Tipperary." Any popular song (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Robert W. Mayhew Tenders His Thanks For Magnificent Victory

"My first word to you tonight must be one of most heartfelt thanks for the confidence in me which you have shown by the magnificent vote you have polled in my favor," said Robert W. Mayhew, M.P.-elect, as soon as his victory had been assured.

"Whether I had won or lost, this campaign would in any event have lived in my memory, because of the evidences of friendship I received in the support freely offered from so many people everywhere. I cannot find words at all sufficient to express my gratitude. I hope you will all take this as an expression of my personal thanks."

"I want also to thank my opponents for the clean, sporting campaign they have waged. I have endeavored to avoid, as they have so successfully avoided, anything that would leave any ill-feeling toward both Mr. McKelvie and Mr. King Gordon, and thank them for their gentlemanly campaign."

"To my supporters in the Liberal Party I extend my heartiest congratulations. I know that they are as delighted as I am with the result. For what I have been able personally to do to bring victory to the Liberal cause in Victoria I am glad, but I could not have done it without the magnificent support given me by the party. To Hon. J. G. MacKenzie, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, G. G. McGeer and the local speakers let me also say my kindest and heartiest thanks."

"I think I should make special mention of the active part played by the women of Victoria in this campaign. The generous help they have given I greatly appreciate. I am sure Mrs. Mayhew would wish to join me in a special word of thanks to the women of Victoria."

"I wish also to express my sincerest thanks to the press, both The Times and The Colonist, for its fair coverage of the campaign, and the support it accorded me."

"I want to close by saying one thing, which I said in my campaign. I said if elected I would be the representative of all Victorians—whatever their political (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

Highest Vote Recorded in Victoria Sends Liberal to Ottawa With Overwhelming Majority Over Conservative and C.C.F. Aspirants

Mayhew's Lead Set at 1,846

Victoria Liberals found real cause for jubilation today as they surveyed the unofficial results of yesterday's polls and found that by electing Robert W. Mayhew to represent the city in the House of Commons they had broken the 29-year winning streak of the Conservative party federally in Victoria and piled up the greatest majority for their candidate and the greatest Federal Liberal vote in the history of Victoria.

The Liberal vote was 3,507 greater than it was in the 1936 federal by-election, and gave the candidate a 1,846 majority over the Conservative and a 2,844 lead over the C.C.F. candidate.

The official vote will not be known until Friday, when Returning Officer Sydney Child, in the presence of representatives of the candidates, will inspect the reports of the officers of 143 polls, but the compilation made from their returns last night shows the standing as follows:

R. W. Mayhew, Liberal — 9,487
Bruce A. McKelvie, Con. — 7,641
King Gordon, C.C.F. — 6,643

The polling by wards was as follows:

Gordon Mayhew McKelvie
Ward One — 785 969 574
Ward Two — 1,023 1,129 694
Ward Three — 1,644 1,884 1,288
Ward Four — 828 1,244 1,257
Ward Five — 1,280 1,841 1,556
Oak Bay — 771 1,622 1,714
Esquimalt — 480 732 548
Advance Vote — 24 26 15

LIBERAL TRIUMPH

Whichever way the figures are analyzed they presented a triumph for Liberalism, and offered little consolation to the other two parties. Although the 23,717 voters, out of a total of 30,200 eligible, who went to the polls represented an increase of 6,126 votes cast over that in the 1936 federal by-election when Hon. S. F. Tolmie was elected, the Liberal candidate was the only one to show an increase proportionate to the extra votes cast. The C.C.F. candidate got only 957 more out of the extra 6,179 votes cast and the Conservative candidate got 1,661 more. Mr. Mayhew received an increase of 3,508 votes.

With Liberal cabinet ministers, ex-Premier Bennett, Conservative leader, and J. S. Woodsworth, national C.C.F. leader and C.C.F. Ottawa member, taking part in the campaign, it was early lifted out of the class of a by-election to one of national significance with national issues of trade treaties, unemployment insurance and national defence among those brought into the platform discussions. The result, it is anticipated, will have an important bearing on the next general election and in this connection Victoria Liberals were gratified to be able to broadcast to the rest of Canada that after only eight years of representation by a Liberal in the federal House since Confederation Victoria has again (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

British and French Move For General World Settlement

Other Powers to Be Asked to Join Them in Peace Discussion

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain and French Foreign Minister Delbois issued declarations today indicating they planned broad consultations with other powers looking toward a general settlement of world unrest.

Mr. Chamberlain's statement said Germany's colonial demands could not be considered "in isolation."

It declared France and Britain were ready to co-operate with other powers in protecting both their rights and treaty obligations in the Far East.

The statement, outlining the French and British position, was made to the House of Commons after the heads of the government had completed a two-day review of their problems in world danger spots. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Hundreds Send Congratulations

R. W. Mayhew, M.P.-elect, Receives Many Telephone Calls and Telegrams

Long-distance telephone calls and congratulatory telegrams from all parts of Canada continued to reach Robert W. Mayhew, M.P.-elect, today after his decisive victory in yesterday's by-election.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King was among the first to wire his congratulations last night, even before the victory had been conceded by Mr. Mayhew's opponents.

From about 9 o'clock onwards wires and telephone messages besieged Liberal headquarters and the Mayhew home on Beach Drive, where the candidate entertained personal friends yesterday evening. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

TORONTO—Bankfield Consolidated Mines, Little Long Lac area, reported production for October at $49,703 from milling 8,513 tons of ore, an average recovery of $14.15 per ton. This compares with production of $37,843 from 3,960 tons and average recovery of $14.58 in September.

HAND GRENADES FOUND IN PARIS

Police Tracing "Hooded Ones" Uncover Bombs; Rocque Betrayal Denied

PARIS (CP Havas)—French police investigating activities of Les Cagoulauds (the Hooded Ones) today discovered 576 hand grenades cached in the Bois de Boulogne quarter.

Police first found a cache of 10 boxes containing a total of 320 grenades. Nearby they later uncovered eight other boxes holding 256.

Mme. Camille Chautemps, wife of the French Premier, today denied she had told anyone Col. Francois de La Rocque had turned over to French authorities a list of his former collaborators in the outlawed Croix de Feu and then later for Comox-Atlin, being the only other Liberals ever to represent Victoria at Ottawa.

The denial was contained in a letter from the Premier's wife, read at the opening of today's session of De La Rocque's slander suit against 17 French newspaper editors for repeating the accusation that he had taken government money, originally leveled against the ex-leader of the Croix de Feu by Duke Pozzi di Borgo.

swung back to Liberalism. The late George Riley, who was first elected in a by-election in 1902 and later at a general election in 1904, and the late Hon. W. Templeman, who was first elected in a by-election in 1906 and sat until 1908 for Victoria and then later for Comox-Atlin, being the only other Liberals ever to represent Victoria at Ottawa.

There were disappointments naturally as the progress reports of the poll came in last night to newspaper offices, and were relayed to the various headquarters, but there was little or no suspense for the candidates and their supporters. The first and early flash of the battle prompted the exclamation "King Gordon Leads." With two polls heard from, the C.C.F. man had 32 votes, the Liberal candidate 21 and the Conservative candidate 39. It provided, however, but a passing thrill for the C.C.F. The next flash of five polls put Mayhew in a lead which steadily mounted for the rest of the evening. The count available last night and today is that compiled with the co-operation of polling officials by the two Victoria newspapers, and although not official will probably show small variation from the official count. The four polls not reported last night were checked this morning and increased Mr. Mayhew's lead by 49.

BRITISH AND FRENCH MOVE FOR GENERAL WORLD SETTLEMENT

INVITATIONS TO OTHERS

The Prime Minister told the Commons: "The ultimate object we have in view is a general settlement. It is obvious a general settlement cannot be arrived at merely by conversations between two, or even among three countries.

"Therefore we must ultimately contemplate other countries should be brought into the conversations. At the same time I should make clear I do not think we have got as far as immediate extension of the conversations, although it may, perhaps, come at a later stage."

The communiqué, which Mr. Chamberlain himself read, was in part as follows:

"M. Chautemps (Premier of France) and M. Delbos had a number of conversations with the Prime Minister, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs (Anthony Eden), and other British ministers during their stay in London from November 29 to November 30.

TALKS IN GERMANY

"The French ministers heard from Viscount Halifax himself a statement on the recent conversations in Germany.

They were glad to recognize that while Lord Halifax's visit, being of a private and unofficial character, was not expected to lead to any immediate results, it helped to remove the causes of international misunderstandings, and was well calculated to improve the atmosphere."

"The problems of Europe as a whole and the future prospects of appeasement and disarmament came under review.

"On these important subjects, the French and British ministers found fresh evidence on the community of attitude and the outlook which so happily characterizes relations between France and the United Kingdom.

COLONIES FOR GERMANY

"Preliminary examination was made of the colonial question in all its aspects.

"It was recognized that this question was not one that could be considered in isolation, and, moreover, would involve a number of other countries.

"It was agreed that the subject would require much more extended study.

"The French ministers, in their turn, spoke of the forthcoming visit of M. Delbos to certain countries of central and eastern Europe. They were happy to note the common interests of the two governments in the maintenance of peaceful conditions in those parts of Europe.

SPANISH PROBLEMS

"The situation arising out of the Spanish conflict and Mediterranean questions came under review. It was agreed that despite all difficulties, the policy of nonintervention in Spain had been fully justified and had contributed materially to diminishing international repercussions of the conflict.

"It was resolved to pursue the efforts of the two governments in this direction in order to give full effect to this policy.

"The French and British ministers examined the Far Eastern situation, the gravity of which they fully recognized. They agreed as to their readiness to co-operate with other countries similarly placed to protect rights and interests and to meet obligations arising from international treaties relating to that part of the world.

"The British and French ministers went on to review in a spirit of mutual confidence other aspects of international affairs of common interest to the two countries.

"While in no way departing from the previously expressed conception of international collaboration, they reaffirmed the desire of their governments to prospectus. He had never seen it and it was not authorized by the B.C. Nickel Company. It contained misstatements, he said.

TELFORD CHARGES FLATLY DENIED BY B.C. NICKEL CO.

Dr. Telford read a series of documents and agreements on the financial history of the company, relating that in the fall of 1933, when the company was bankrupt, a syndicate composed of Col. Spencer, Ben Smith and the late David Sloan entered into an agreement to play up the back debts, to do certain development work up to the point where, if it was justified, they would put in a 1,000-ton refining plant. In exchange they received 4,250,000 shares out of a reorganized capital of 6,000,000 shares of the company.

Dr. Telford then produced the prospectus which, he said, stated that $2,000,000 was available for bringing the property into production.

The syndicate, he said, sold $668,000 worth of stock—whether to the public or to private individuals he was not sure—but why they sold stock when they were supposed to have $2,000,000 available he did not know.

"I would simply conclude they didn't have the $2,000,000, so unloaded stock on the public," he said. "At any rate, they left themselves with just 3,018,000 shares, which gave them control." Under its agreement, he said, the syndicate had a chance to get out from under but did not, so it must be a good mine. But, he maintained, it had not lived up to its agreement to put the mine on a basis of producing 1,000 tons a day.

Then, he said, early this year had come another reorganization plan by which the shares would be reduced one for four and the syndicate would get another 600,000 shares.

He said that one of the minority shareholders had had to take the matter to the courts to protect their rights in the proposed reorganization.

In reply to questions of R. W. Bruhn, Independent, Salmon Arm, Dr. Telford said his main point was that the $2,000,000 mentioned in the prospectus was not available.

FARRIS REPLIES

Mr. Farris, in reply, denied flatly that the prospectus mentioned by Dr. Telford had ever been issued by B.C. Nickel or on behalf of the company.

"As far as I know B.C. Nickel knew nothing of it and even if they had there was nothing improper about it. It would not convey to any sane person the meaning Dr. Telford has put on it. Any person would want to know on what terms the $2,000,000 was available. And I can tell you now that if it had been warranted much more than $2,000,000 would have been put in to the property," Mr. Farris said.

Mr. Farris analyzed the contract. He said the syndicate had paid up the $175,000 back debts of the company, and had agreed to put up the money for a 4,000-foot tunnel with crosscuts to explore the ore bodies. If sufficient ore were found to justify a 1,000-ton refining mill, then it would be constructed.

It was not until May this year, he said, that it was found there was not sufficient ore for such a large mill.

Meanwhile, he continued, the money the syndicate was advancing bore interest at 6 per cent. It was not a debt recoverable by action but was repayable out of the company's earnings. And, at October 31 of this year there was $1,389,986.66 owing to the syndicate on these advances.

Two things interfered with the construction of the refining plant under the original agreement, he said. First, there was not enough ore, and second all the patents on refining were held by other companies.

"I would like to stress here," he said, "that at any time the syndicate could say, under its agreement, that it would make no further loans and stop development."

MUCH INVESTED

"Dr. Telford had said that these men put nothing into the mine for their 3,000,000 shares, and then sold some shares. Yes, they did sell some shares, but I would state that Col. Spencer alone has $215,000 cash in the property exclusive of any shares that were sold. Would any of you gentlemen like to put that kind of money in a property? And there co-operate with all countries in the common task of promoting international appeasement by methods of free and peaceful negotiation."

IN FULL AGREEMENT

M. Chautemps declared the French ministers were "in perfect and total agreement." He declined to add to the communiqué.

The French Premier and Foreign Minister later were seen off at Victoria Station on their return home by Mr. Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Eden.

was nothing to stop them selling all their shares if they wanted," Mr. Farris said.

In proposing the capital reorganization on a one-for-four basis the syndicate had agreed to take 600,000 shares for its $1,389,986.66 indebtedness and take up another 100,000 of the new shares at $1.50 to provide working capital, he said. This being on the basis of 37½ cents for the old shares, which were then selling at 20 cents on the market.

"If that is swindling the public I hope we'll have a lot more of the same kind and get some real development work done," he said.

Mr. Farris then read at length from a judgment of Mr. Justice Fisher in the action taken by a minority shareholder, T. L. Carr, to halt the proposed reorganization.

SHOUTING

At one stage Mr. Farris and Dr. Telford were shouting at each other the length of the committee table over a statement alleged to have been made by Dr. Telford. Mr. Farris said the judge had found absolutely no evidence of moral turpitude by the majority shareholders, which was certainly implied by Dr. Telford.

He said the syndicate holding control had agreed to refrain from voting on the reorganization plan so that it would be agreed to by a majority of the minority shareholders.

He explained that with the present capitalization of the mine, and the debt owing to the syndicate, it would be 20 years before the shareholders could get anything from the mine, and there were but 14 years or in sight. Under the reorganization plan the shareholders could have been brought out "on the right side of the ledger."

Dr. Telford maintained that because the syndicate had not fulfilled its contract it should have handed back the 3,000,000 shares it got in the first place.

Mr. Douglas, then called to the stand, explained that the 1933 agreement had been unworkable for the reasons already given. If a 1,000-ton mill were put up today it would do more harm to the mine than anything else.

"I thought the reorganization plan was very generous," he said. "And I wanted to see it go through before October, 1938, by which time the syndicate will have full control of the mine."

that everybody knew seemed to fit into the spirit of the party. The Liberals received a great cheer, for when the Conservative candidate edged his way to the platform, where he personally congratulated Mr. Mayhew, Mr. McKelvie also expressed his sincere appreciation of the cleanliness of the campaign.

FLANNELS FOR GOLF CLUBS

After Mr. McKelvie had spoken, Mr. Mayhew brought a roar from the crowd as he announced that as a result of the elections he was to receive Mr. McKelvie's red flannels and Mr. McKelvie was going to receive his golf clubs.

After that Mr. McGregor called to the platform the individual workers who had contributed to the success of the campaign, including C. H. O'Halloran, K.C., chairman of the campaign committee; A. H. Cox, secretary of the Victoria Liberal Association. The following campaign chairmen in the various wards: G. S. Tannock, Ward One; W. Hill, Ward Two; Tom Hicks, Ward Three; C. F. Copeland, Ward Four; Fred White, Ward Five; Clarence Johns, Oak Bay, and J. F. Mesher, Esquimalt, and Alderman Achille Wills, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, E. M. Whyte and Alan Chambers.

Mr. O'Halloran was busy all the evening receiving congratulations as campaign manager on the outcome of the battle, and was given an ovation when he mounted the platform to briefly acknowledge cheers that were given him.

IN LEGISLATURE

Beyond broad smiles on the faces of cabinet ministers and an occasional quip from the Liberal benches, the great Liberal victory passed outwardly unnoticed in the British Columbia Legislature last night.

J. Howard Foster, Liberal, Burrard, at the start of the night sitting, suggested that the Speaker give him permission to collect a wager he had made with one of the Conservatives before supper.

While Dr. J. D. Hunter, Conservative, Victoria, was wandering among the treasury benches, evidently congratulating the Liberals on their win, Herbert Anscomb, his running mate in Victoria, rose to suggest that he return to the Opposition side before he got "contaminated."

"Perhaps he is getting a bit frightened and wants to mingle with the winners," shot back Hon. John Hart, Liberal, Victoria, evidently referring to Dr. Hunter's forthcoming majority contest.

There were 200 telegrams, including 40 which came this morning. From presidents of large firms to working acquaintances in other parts of the Dominion came the congratulations, including many from Mr. Mayhew's business competitors.

Among the official ones he received were the following: Prime Minister Mackenzie King—"Please accept for yourself and extend to the Liberals of Victoria my heartiest congratulations upon your election to the House of Commons by the magnificent majority you have just received. The results of today's election constitute a most gratifying endorsement of the record and policies of the government. My colleagues and I very deeply appreciate the confidence thus expressed by the electors of Victoria in the present administration."

Hon. Norman MCL Rogers, Minister of Labor—"Heartiest congratulations on splendid victory."

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice—"Heartiest congratulations for your splendid victory. The electors of Victoria deserve the gratitude of Canada."

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence—"My heartiest congratulations on your magnificent and great national victory. The Prime Minister phoned and has also asked me to express to you his personal congratulations on your great achievement."

Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister of Fisheries—"Congratulations. Glad to have your co-operation."

J. M. Streight, Secretary New Westminster Liberal Association—"Congratulations on your splendid victory. Best wishes."

Matt Armstrong, Secretary Nanaimo Liberal Association—"Nanaimo Liberal Association congratulate you on glorious victory. Well done."

W. J. Knox, Kelowna Liberal Association—"Heartiest congratulations on your very successful campaign and election."

CURRENCY THEME OF

Louis St. Laurent, commission counsel, suggested currency adjustment would merely have shifted the burden from one section of the country to another. While tourists might have been more attracted to Canada by reduced currency, Canadians would have been at an equal disadvantage going abroad, counsel said.

Dr. Uppgren noted the United States and Canada had already inflated their currency, regulated by central bank control. By moderate inflation a fair balance between prices of various industries might be reached.

In depressions, manufactured goods dropped comparatively slowly, Dr. Uppgren said, while agricultural prices dropped sharply.

INFLATION EFFECTS

Inflation served to raise agricultural prices to the level of consumer goods.

"What would happen if we had a 10-cent dollar?" asked Mr. St. Laurent.

"Agricultural prices would go up, perhaps beyond manufactured goods prices," said Dr. Uppgren.

Isaac Pitblado, Manitoba counsel, explained Manitoba was not attacking the policy of depression times. The province was merely trying to show the disadvantageous position in which the west was placed by those policies as reason for some consideration for Manitoba's present position.

DETAILED PROGRAMME

The discussion was an outcome of a detailed programme of legislative and financial adjustments between the Dominion and provincial governments proposed Monday before the commission by the Manitoba government as its contribution toward a solution of basic government problems brought to a head by depression and drought.

The government asserted Can-views. "That stands. As your representative I place whatever ability I have at your service, irrespective of party. I hope, and I expect, I shall be able to do something for Victoria to add to her industrial and general prosperity."

No Letters Now For Germans in Russia

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — Germans have been requested to refrain from corresponding with relatives or friends in the Soviet Union.

Such correspondence, a communiqué issued Monday by the official German news agency said, "threatens great danger and difficulties for those receiving it in the Soviet Union."

The statement declared numerous Soviet citizens of German blood and German nationality living in the Soviet Union had been arrested recently after receiving letters from Germany.

New Suggestion For Reporters

LONDON (CP) — Registration of newspaper reporters is the aim of a bill which may be introduced in the House of Commons, backed by nine government members and one Opposition Liberal.

The bill proposes to set up a registration council with two subsidiary bodies, one called a board of journalistic education and the other an admission committee which would scrutinize applications for registration. It also provides newspapermen could be removed from the register for criminal offences or unprofessional conduct.

Much Food Sent To Drought Areas

TORONTO (CP) — The carloads of provisions sent for the relief of families in the dry regions of the prairies have reached a total of 834, according to an announcement by Rev. D. N. McLachlan, secretary of the Joint Committee of the Churches for Western Relief. The original objective was 500 carloads.

Ontario and eastern Canada sent 382 carloads, Saskatchewan 6, Manitoba 189, Alberta 106, and British Columbia 151.

Word Received From Trapper

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Edward Miller, missing since he left McBride, B.C., six weeks ago to take food supplies to his trappers, is safe at the Northern British Columbia town, according to word received here.

Miller left for his trapper without snowshoes and was caught by a heavy fall of snow. He suffered no ill-effects from his experience, however.

Search was started 10 days ago for the missing man when Constable Richard McKinley of the British Columbia Police left McBride with a rescue party.

Vote Is Answer To Bennett, Says King

Government Policies Endorsed in Election of Mayhew, Premier Declares

OTTAWA (CP) — "The answer given Mr. Bennett by the electors of Victoria is unmistakable," Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared last night in commenting on the victory of R. W. Mayhew, Liberal, in the Victoria by-election.

"It may be taken as expressing the views of all Canada. So far as our country is concerned the days of economic nationalism and economic imperialism are past."

Mr. Mackenzie King issued the following prepared statement: "The election of the government candidate in today's contest in Victoria constitutes the most emphatic endorsement of the policies of the Liberal administration."

"Mr. Mayhew is the first Liberal member to be returned to the House of Commons for Victoria in three decades, and the fourth to be elected in the riding in the period since Confederation. His election has been achieved in a three-cornered contest, and in the face of the strongest opposition from the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the leader of the Conservative party, and his followers, and from the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation."

POLICY ENDORSED

"The policies and record of the present government were the issues throughout the campaign."

"The confidence expressed in the present administration is all the more significant in view of the fact that Mr. Bennett traveled to Victoria to inject into the campaign, as an additional issue, the possible negotiations of a trade agreement between the United Kingdom and the United States, and the extension and enlargement of the Canada-United States agreement, which has been in force in the last two years."

"The answer given Mr. Bennett by the electors of Victoria is unmistakable. It may be taken as expressing the views of all Canada. So far as our country is concerned, the days of economic nationalism and economic imperialism are past. Canada believes in an expansion of international trade as a more certain path to prosperity and peace."

BENNETT STATEMENT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, last night said election of R. W. Mayhew, Liberal, in the federal by-election in Victoria was unexpected, but declared "the time for consideration of the issues raised by the election was far too short."

In a statement to the Canadian Press Mr. Bennett said: "The result in Victoria was not unexpected."

"In a three-cornered contest the Liberal candidate pulled out a majority but the largest vote. The governments, both federal and provincial, determined that he must succeed. The result was greatly influenced by the appeal of the Minister of Defence, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, for support by Victoria of the defence policy of the government and the thinly veiled implication that the election of an opposition candidate would jeopardize the completion of the defences of Vancouver Island, of vital importance to the electors of Victoria."

"The fact that such an appeal was made by the Minister of Defence himself gave it additional effect. The government candidate had more than liberal financial support and the time for consideration of the issues raised by the election was far too short."

J. S. WOODSWORTH
 J. S. Woodsworth, federal Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader, expressed satisfaction with the showing made by Professor J. King Gordon, the party's candidate in the Victoria by-election.

"We are rather gratified to observe that the C.C.F. vote is, from the latest figures, considerably ahead of that polled by Professor Gordon in the 1936 election."

"It seems to be a triumph for localism. While, of course, no one can assert what actually influenced the voters, members of the Dominion cabinet presented the larger issues at stake, and I feel that in Victoria the whole atmosphere indicates a greater interest in local matters."

"We are not out of the fight and I think Mr. King Gordon is just beginning his work in Canada," the C.C.F. leader concluded.

DOZEN INJURED BY BIG BLAST

BEIGHTON, Yorkshire, Eng. (CP) — Twelve persons were injured, and windows of shops and mills within a quarter-mile radius shattered Monday by an explosion which wrecked the compression plant of the British Dyestuffs Corporation.

Debris strewn about the nearby Trafalgar mills resulted in injuries to six factory girls and a man. The proprietress of a shop opposite the dyeworks was blown from the front of her shop into the scullery and the building was reduced to ruins.

The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Liberals Now Have 178 Seats

OTTAWA (CP) — Election of R. W. Mayhew, Liberal, in the Victoria by-election last night, raised that party's representation in the House of Commons to 178. The Victoria seat was held by Conservatives from 1908 until the death of Hon. S. F. Tolmie two months ago.

Equalize Rates Of Income Tax

Canada and United States Make Trans-Boundary Agreement

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian residents who derive income from United States sources will pay a flat 5 per cent income tax, to be deducted at the source, but residents of other countries who draw income from United States sources through Canadian agencies will be taxed 10 per cent.

This is the effect of a new regulation issued Monday by Revenue Minister Ilsey, following conferences with American Treasury officials.

Previously, the United States imposed a tax of 10 per cent on the incomes of residents derived from foreign sources. Canada's corresponding rate was 5 per cent. In the negotiations this country asked the United States to bring its rate down, so far as persons deriving their income from Canada was concerned, to the Canadian figure.

The United States officials agreed. They pointed out, however, this would be an encouragement for persons residing in other countries to establish "fiscal agents" in Canada, in order to get the advantage of the 5 per cent rate. Canada's response has been to notify all concerned that for Canadian residents drawing income from the United States, the income tax figure will be 5 per cent, but if the money is collected in Canada for the purpose of being sent out of the country, an additional 5 per cent has to be collected.

This action establishes income tax reciprocity between the two countries, so far as their respective nationals are concerned, and also maintains the balance up to the 10 per cent rate in cases affecting non-residents of Canada, who derive income from the United States.

DIPHTHERIA CASE

CALGARY (CP) — The first case of diphtheria here in five years was reported Monday by Dr. W. H. Hill, medical health officer. Dr. Hill made public the fact that a seven-year-old boy from an outlying suburb had been taken to the isolation hospital Friday. At the patient's home, inoculations were given the boy's parents and his older brother.

TRIAL LISTED FOR SPRING SITTING

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Chief Justice Aulay Morrison in the Assize Court here Monday traversed to the spring assizes the trial of 18-year-old Jack Headridge on a manslaughter charge which arose from an accident here October 17.

Frances Harrington, 19, of Vancouver, and Allan McCartney, 19, Port Coquitlam, B.C., were killed instantly when an automobile allegedly driven by Headridge crashed into a guard rail near here. Headridge and two girls riding in the front seat of the machine escaped injury.

The request to have the trial traversed was made by counsel for Headridge, who claimed he had not had an opportunity of obtaining a transcript of evidence of the preliminary hearing held here last week.

Headridge is at liberty on $10,000 bail.

MOTORIST INJURED

SASKATOON (CP) — William James Gilmour, Grandora district farmer, lay critically injured in a hospital here today. A car he was driving crashed Monday night into the tongue of a wagon loaded with straw and he suffered a compound fracture of the skull.

Double Stomach To Be Studied

Body of Prince Ali, Vaudeville Player, Taken to Johns Hopkins

NEW YORK (CP) — Princess Alemani Ali of Egypt arrived on the liner Queen Mary Monday with the body of her father, Prince Hadji Ali, noted for having two stomachs. The body was taken to Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, where a study of the mysterious two stomachs will be undertaken.

Prince Hadji Ali played in vaudeville. One of his acts was to swallow three gallons of water and a half gallon of gasoline. Then he would squirt the gasoline through his lips and set it afire, extinguishing the blaze by squirting a stream of water.

After surgeons have investigated, the body will be returned to Egypt and placed in a mausoleum. The prince died November 5 after falling off a chair in Paris.

Mackenzie King Is On Vacation

Prime Minister on Way to Spend Fortnight on Florida Coast

OTTAWA (CP) — Looking forward to a fortnight's rest and complete freedom from all cares of office, Prime Minister King today was traveling toward an unnamed destination in Florida. When he left Ottawa Monday night he declared his visit to the United States had "no national or international significance," and that he did not expect to see President Roosevelt.

He said he felt it necessary to get a few days in a sunny and warm climate in order to get in condition for the strenuous work of the parliamentary session now less than two months distant.

When his journey to the south would take him through Washington, both going and coming, the Prime Minister said he had no plans to visit any officials there. He had made no engagements of any kind, he said, and did not propose to make any.

His destination, it was believed, was a small Florida resort, but the Prime Minister desired that his address for the next fortnight be left unnamed.

He is accompanied on the trip by one secretary.

Shortly before going aboard the train in Ottawa the Prime Minister was advised of the success of Robert W. Mayhew, Liberal, in the Victoria by-election. He said the policies and record of the government had been given a "most emphatic endorsement."

On matters pending consideration by the government, including unemployment insurance, the Prime Minister said the government would carry on during his absence with Justice Minister Lapointe acting as leader.

SHINGLE PACT CHANGE URGED

Senator Bone, Washington, Suggests Canada's Quota On Monthly Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Homer T. Bone, Washington State, wrote Secretary of State Cerdell Hull Monday, urging him to seek revision of the red cedar shingle trade treaty with Canada to place import quotas on a monthly, rather than a semi-annual basis.

He said the present system resulted in a bad distribution of imports, the bulk of shipments coming early in the six-month period.

"This has a tendency to glut the market and break prices," he explained.

NO CANADIAN SUPPORT

OTTAWA (CP) — Proposal of Senator Homer T. Bone of Washington that Canada's red cedar shingle quota in the United States market should be on a monthly rather than a semi-annual basis would not be supported here. Officials admitted the present arrangement was not working satisfactorily, but declared the proposed remedy would not help.

Trade officials here said that when the Canada-United States trade agreement was negotiated two years ago and the quotas fixed it was with the belief the heaviest shipments would come in mid-summer.

It had developed, however, that the bulk of the shingle trade had arisen in August, September and October. Officials here saw no real remedy except abolition of the quota altogether. This will probably be discussed at the forthcoming negotiations for a new agreement.

Normally British Columbia ships about 25 per cent of its red cedar shingle production to the United States, but this percentage is greatly increased during the late summer and autumn months. The total annual value of the trade is about $4,000,000.

Cinema Prize For Toronto Man

H. H. Jones Wins Maxim Plaque With Color Movies of Rockies

TORONTO (CP) — Hamilton H. Jones of 7 Balsam Avenue, Toronto, was announced today as winner of the prize awarded by the Amateur Cinema League of New York for the best non-theatrical motion picture taken in the world in 1937.

Jones' film, recording the Rocky Mountains in natural colors, won him the Hiram Percy Maxim Plaque and a cash prize of $100. It was entitled a "Western Holiday," and was set in Mount Robson and Jasper National Park.

The film records a trip in Mount Robson Provincial Park to Berg Lake and Tumbling Glacier at the foot of the mountain and a trip through Jasper National Park.

Shaw Play In New York Soon

"On the Rocks" Will Be Offered in January

NEW YORK (CP) — "On the Rocks," a play by George Bernard Shaw, first produced in England four years ago, will have its American premiere in January as a production of the Federal Theatre Project of the Works Progress Administration, it was announced today by George Kondolf, project director for New York City.

Kondolf said "it should be one of the outstanding hits of the season."

The scene of "On the Rocks," a political fantasy, is laid in the cabinet room at 10 Downing Street. Its chief character is the Prime Minister, Sir Arthur Chavender. Sir Arthur, a thorough-going Conservative, is advised by a Labor leader to read Marx and Lenin. He does so and, converted to liberalism, plans a reform programme.

Sir Arthur eventually wins most of his die-hard colleagues over to his scheme, but in the end it is the workingmen who reject his idea of collectivism as slavery. When the only way out of possible revolution appears to be the establishment of what amounts to a dictatorship, the Prime Minister resigns.

New Head For Traffic Guards

VANCOUVER (CP) — Inspector Harold Mortimer, head of the Vancouver police traffic department since 1929, has been placed on sick leave and will be succeeded by Sergeant W. Lemon. Chief Constable W. W. Foster made the announcement Monday.

Sergt. Lemon filled the position temporarily during 1936 while Inspector Mortimer was ill.

Former Deputy Chief Constable John Murdoch, whose reinstatement was announced last Saturday by Chief Foster, will be assistant to Sergt. Lemon.

NEW MINISTERS IN AUSTRALIA

Two Join Lyons Cabinet in Reshuffle After General Election

CANBERRA (CP) — Prime Minister Joseph Lyons is preparing to grapple with Australia's problems of defence and trade, the members of his new cabinet having taken their oaths of office.

Returned to power in last month's general election which produced small change in the government's majority in the House of Representatives, but cut the margin in the Senate to a mere three seats, the coalition government of Mr. Lyons' United Australia Party and the Country Party was formed on the same lines as before. The swearing-in ceremony was held Monday.

Rt. Hon. Earl C. G. Page, leader of the Country Party, retained his post at the commerce ministry and, in addition, took over the portfolio of health.

Except for two notable absences, the reorganized cabinet shows few changes. Sir George Pears, Minister of External Affairs in the previous government, failed in the election to retain his seat in the Senate, while Sir Archdale Parkhill, former Minister of Defence, also was defeated.

Rt. Hon. W. M. Hughes, former Prime Minister and Minister of Health and Repatriation in the last cabinet, replaced Sir George Pearce and H. V. Thorby, formerly a minister without portfolio, went to the defence ministry.

H. S. Foll became Minister for Repatriation and J. McEwen succeeded T. Patterson as Minister of the Interior.

Army Increase In U.S. Urged

Secretary of War Advocates More "Insurance Against Attack"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of War Woodring is advocating an increase in the United States army's strength and an accelerated programme of providing modern military equipment "as insurance against attack."

Specific recommendations for increases made Monday by the secretary were:

Addition of 500 regular commissioned officers a year to increase the number by 2,300 to 14,500. Additions would come from qualified junior officers of the reserve corps.

Recruiting the enlisted strength from the present 162,000 to 165,000.

An increase in the National Guard from 192,000 to 210,000 officers and men.

An increase from 30,000 to 50,000 in the number of youths given annual training at youths' military training camps.

Increased reserve officer training at colleges to make available at least 120,000 active reserve officers.

Building up a reserve of 150,000 enlisted specialists.

A Magnificent Victory

TODAY MR. ROBERT MAYHEW, AS Victoria's M.P.-elect, is being spoken of in all parts of Canada. Telegrams of congratulations have come in shoals; among them one from Mr. Mackenzie King, which is highly prized by the Liberal member-elect. For it is the first time a Dominion Prime Minister has been able to congratulate a Liberal on victory in this constituency since 1906—when Sir Wilfrid Laurier tendered his felicitations to Hon. William Templeman.

We join in the expressions which have reached Mr. Mayhew. Not only do we extend to him our heartiest congratulations on a magnificent victory, but we also congratulate the people of Victoria on presenting to one so adequately equipped to serve them in the House of Commons at Ottawa the highest compliment at their disposal.

When Mr. Mayhew goes down to the national capital to take his seat in Parliament, he can be depended upon to let his voice be heard in the interests of more external trade which, of course, means more employment and the general improvement of living standards all round. And another by no means insignificant point about this election, when all is said and done, is that Mr. Mayhew has accomplished what began to look like a hopeless task; he has induced Victoria to recognize the error of her political ways.

1937 Is Not 1911

THE FACT EMPHASIZED BY YESTERDAY'S Liberal victory in Victoria is that 1937 is not 1911.

Alarms and scares the Conservative Party found effective in the 1911 reciprocity election, proved of no avail here in the campaign just concluded. Conservative speakers during the last two weeks trotted out the old anti-reciprocity bogies, revived the Taft "adjunct" and "annexation to United States" cries and waved the flag furiously. But this time the people of Victoria would rise to no such bait. The combined Liberal and C.C.F. vote, as against the Conservative, showed more than two-thirds of the electors unresponsive to such empty and purely emotional appeal.

Mr. Bennett chose Victoria as a testing ground, and crossed the continent to raise his own battle cry. He and speakers supporting him hailed this as favorable territory. They saw the odds loaded in their favor because of this constituency's Conservative record, unbroken in the federal field for 30 years. But, like time, even Victoria marches on. Old-time party cries have lost their efficacy in the light of political experience, prejudices of other years have yielded to a broadened and realistic outlook. Thus, Mr. Bennett was defeated here literally on ground and issues of his own choosing.

Mr. Mayhew's Majority

OF SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE ON MR. Mayhew's eminently successful first bid for parliamentary honors is his imposing majority over his nearest opponent of 1,846 and 2,844 over the runner in third place. It is noteworthy, too, that Esquimalt gave Mr. Mayhew a margin over Mr. McKelvie of 184 and over Dr. King Gordon of 252. Traditionally Conservative Oak Bay and the Fairfield section gave Mr. McKelvie the narrowest of margins.

The distribution of votes in this election was vastly different from that of 1930, 1935 and 1936—the latter a by-election occasioned by the death of Mr. Plunkett. In the 1930 and 1935 elections the Conservative majorities were 2,016 and 1,023, respectively. In the by-election of 1936 Dr. Tolmie won the seat by 90 votes over Dr. King Gordon and 252 votes over Mr. McDowell. Dr. Gordon in yesterday's polling gained 800 votes on his 1936 total, a gain in proportion to the increase shown in the total poll. The fact that he has thus held his own on his third time up is a reminder that theorist thought in this community is not to be ignored. These are the unofficial final results for yesterday:

R. W. Mayhew 9,487
B. A. McKelvie 7,641
J. King Gordon 6,643

Both former Premier Bennett and the morning paper remind us that Mr. Mayhew was not elected on a majority vote, but on the largest vote. We are quite used to the appearance of this argument from Conservative leaders and Conservative newspapers when they are confronted by a Liberal victory. Under our present electoral system, of course, and where there are intense urban and intense rural constituencies—with often many-cornered contests—election to office on a minority vote will more often than not be the rule rather than the exception.

The people of Victoria are deserving of congratulations because they proved that at long last they really wanted to join with millions of other Canadians in the support of policies which form the basic principle of Liberalism—the greatest good for the greatest number. Throughout the campaign, Mr. Mayhew and his workers dealt with facts; they mirrored the examination of the public at large conditions and not theories.

Administration Approval

NATURALLY WELCOME TO HON. IAN Mackenzie as British Columbia's minister at Ottawa was yesterday's election results. He made the fight here his own. He now returns to Ottawa at the head of a Liberal contingent of seven instead of six from this province. His enhanced prestige will be serviceable in advancing B.C.'s claims in parliamentary circles, as it most decidedly will be in pressing forward with his enlarged defence plans. A vote adverse to the minister and the government here would have been unfortunate at this time. Coming from Victoria, particularly, it would have been interpreted to give aid and comfort to the factions opposing the defence programme.

Also, of course, the result is welcome to Prime Minister Mackenzie King. He may rightly receive it as a vote of confidence in his administration, especially as the opposition parties found nothing in its works to make an issue of in the campaign. Mr. Bennett chose to force prematurely an issue on Canada's part in the British-United States trade arrangements—when, as, or if they are negotiated. Viewing the defeat Mr. Bennett has met with here in his attempt to raise this issue, Mr. Mackenzie King may properly consider it as a mandate to aid Britain and United States in getting closer together through trade understandings to face the challenge to democracy from east and west. The 40-year record of the Liberal government on the British preference and on its trade expansion policies in general stands as reassuring in the matter of our own trade position, in spite of the cries of alarm raised by Mr. Bennett.

What of Mr. Bennett?

RAISED ANEW, AS A RESULT OF THE way Victoria scorned his pleadings, will be the question of Mr. Bennett's leadership of the Conservative Party. He gambled on sure success in Victoria to restore some of his fast-waning prestige as leader. The result was more a defeat for him and his ambitions than it was for the candidate of whose election he rushed here to make doubly certain.

Party lieutenants throughout the country, as well as the chief Conservative newspapers, have been outspoken in their disapproval of what has been happening to the grand old party under Mr. Bennett. They have been asking where it is going. It has been meeting defeat in every part of the country. The old-line party papers complain no one knows what the party stands for. Party men of prominence with a regularity that must be disconcerting are arising to make saucy remarks about Mr. Bennett, as Senator McRae did only last week-end. More and more insistent grows the demand for reconsideration of the party's leadership as well as for reorientation of its policies in keeping with the times.

The difficulty about doing anything in the matter has come from Mr. Bennett's unchallenged control of the party's membership in the House of Commons and the absence of other leadership material. Responsible for this latter condition has been the one-man domination by a powerful personality that will brook no rivals. Apparently, what is happening to the Conservative Party under him is the same thing that happened to Canada's trade when he threatened to "blast" our way into the markets of the world.

A Generous Gesture

ALL THREE CANDIDATES MAY RE- flect with satisfaction today that the battle they fought before seen and unseen audiences was bereft of unpleasant personalities. As soon as all doubt about the result vanished in the continually rising majority for the Liberal standard-bearer, Mr. McKelvie, who wore the Conservative colors in the contest, received an ovation at Liberal headquarters as he mounted the platform with a broad smile and grasped Mr. Mayhew firmly by the hand to the accompaniment of personal felicitations appropriate to the occasion.

Notes

Well, Victoria wasn't so Tory, after all. Even the sun this bright morning seemed brighter in the light of yesterday's results.

Mr. Mayhew's record vote and the size of his majority removes any doubt as to where Victoria stands.

And the great Bennett rushed all the way across the continent from Nova Scotia to save Victoria for the grand old party!

Let us recall! It was only last week that speakers nightly were telling us we were the most loyal Conservative city in Canada.

The morning paper lugubriously attributes the Liberal victory to the loaves-and-fishes appeal. But whenever a Conservative wins we are told it is because the virtuous electors stood by their high principles and proved themselves responsive to the noblest traditions.

We still don't know whether Conservative campaign meeting chairmen habitually referred to Mr. Bennett as "the greatest statesman Canada has produced" because they really believed it themselves, or just because they knew Mr. Bennett simply feeds on such extravagant praise.

AND WHY NOT?

"What," says The Colonist, "operated in the minds of those voters who placed Mr. Mayhew at the head of the poll was a desire to be on the side of the government and to be participants in whatever favors are dispensed."

Across the Bay

JUST ONE MORE

MR. FORESTER of Burrard, to whom politics is still a wonderland, all sweetness and light, stood up in the House after dinner Monday to suggest that something had happened in Victoria in the last few hours, and that somebody ought to pay him an election bet.

This was the only audible reference to the Liberal victory of Victoria. You would have expected cheers and a wild demonstration. Instead, the Liberal Party, used to victory, heavy with majorities, took this new prize stoically and in its stride.

Still, an effulgent smile radiated from the face of Mr. Hart, who had personally organized the victory, and Mr. Pattullo bubbled with good humor and the whole evening went off merrily.

C.C.F. DEFEAT

THE DAY started with another routine defeat for the C.C.F. and another victory for Mr. Speaker Whittaker, a procedure which is becoming a trifle monotonous and which seems likely to leave little of the socialist programme on the order paper.

In this case, Mr. Speaker ruled out the Telford resolution urging the abolition of liquor advertising, on the ground that liquor isn't good for people anyway. This, said Mr. Speaker, was defeating government policy and practically directing the government to bring in legislation—something which, under the rules, cannot be allowed.

Dr. Telford, a little bewildered to find that it is next to impossible to introduce any subject objectionable to the government, appealed the Speaker's ruling, with the usual result. The Conservatives lined up with the government and Dr. Telford found that the Speaker was right once more, by 33 to 8. The same fate doubtless awaits many another C.C.F. resolution, born to waste its freshness on the order paper.

The Speaker sustained the House went through the listless motions of debating the bill creating a new department of trade and industry. Mr. Macintosh, the coming young man of the Conservative group, led the attack on the scheme as something devised, like the S.P.A., the Brain Trust and other noble experiments of the depression era, to get the government by.

SANDWICH

IT IS IN such simple matters of business as this that the House is at its best. Members make brief, businesslike speeches and sit down, and the over-stuffed oratory of the larger debates is mercifully deleted. Such speeches were those of Mr. Crone, who wanted more efficient tourist advertising and especially better roads; Mr. Bruhn, who feared the cost of the new department, which would grow and grow, as all departments always have, and Mr. Anscomb, who shuddered at the expense.

Mr. Perry, who is getting to be the government's champion-in-chief and most gallant defender, unleashed some of his well-known eloquence to defend the new department but to deplore its size. Not less money but more should be spent, yes up to $500,000 a year, to build trade, said Mr. Perry. In this way, said he, with a quick gift of phrase, British Columbia would throw its bread on the waters and get it back in the form of sandwiches. Yes, said Mrs. Steeves, but would there be meat or sawdust in them?

Sawdust, thought Dr. Telford and, perhaps fearing that his resolutions on the subject would be thrown out later, he launched into a documented speech on the cost of flour and bread in British Columbia. Mr. Pattullo couldn't quite see that this had anything to do with the Department of Trade and Commerce and neither could Mr. Speaker. (Mr. King interjected that he sold flour for $6 a barrel in his store at Golden, a contribution to the debate much appreciated.)

Very well, if Dr. Telford couldn't talk about the price of flour, he could talk about the price of apples and did so, until the Premier got sated with apples, too, and appealed to Mr. Speaker, who hammered his bell. Very well, Dr. Telford, if he couldn't talk about apples, he would sit down, which he did, evidently pretty annoyed at the stifling of a major speech.

Mr. Pearson, saying he was a grocer who, like the old fire horse, instantly rushed into action when his profession was assailed, delivered an informative talk on selling flour but had to stop this intriguing story when Dr. Telford objected that he was out of order.

In the end the government's bill got through, with the C.C.F. group split for the first time.

WHY UNREST ON THE FARM

From The New York Post

A survey by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics shows that, while factory wages are 1 per cent below the 1924-29 level, farm prices are 14 per cent and farm wages 28 per cent below the average of the 1924-29 period.

The S.P.C.A.

OFFICIALS AND SUPPORTERS OF the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will consider the forty-second annual report of the organization at its meeting in the Jones Building this evening.

It is hardly necessary to mention the fact that this organization, unobtrusively but efficiently, is carrying on a fine humanitarian work. Its labors are of an international character and, like many of the more unspectacular activities with which the ordinary citizen identifies himself and herself, are important and worthy of unstinted support. "We speak for those who cannot speak for themselves" is the modest claim of the society.

Like all good workers, however, the local branch of the institution—which, by the way, is well and economically conducted—cannot perform its duties without the constant supply of funds. When the periodical appeal goes out to the citizens of this community, therefore, we bespeak for it a generous response.

Not Colonies, But Czechoslovakia, Nazis' Real Objective

A DOLF HITLER'S demand for colonies, whether with or without the backing of Premier Mussolini, carries far graver implications than appear on the surface, writes William Philip Simms, noted foreign correspondent in the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Item by item, Germany has demanded the return of everything taken from her by the Treaty of Versailles. What was not freely accorded she took for herself—the right to arm as she pleased, remilitarization of the Rhineland, and the rest.

Today the Reich is back in possession of practically everything she lost in the World War, save territory. Now she is making a big play for that. And behind her stands Italy.

But what makes Europe uneasy is not Germany's insistence on the return of the lost colonies. Not even the British and the French, to whom went most of the territory, are particularly worried over that phase of the problem. They say the demand for colonies is largely camouflage, and that what Germany really wants is more territory on the Continent of Europe.

The British colonies would not solve Germany's problem. Her surplus population would not emigrate to the tropics, where most of the lost colonies are situated, nor would colonies yield the necessary foodstuffs and raw materials.

They point out that Hitler himself repeatedly has said that colonies are not his primary aim. "A policy of land acquisition," he has written, "cannot be carried out in places like the Kameruns; but is today almost exclusively possible in Europe."

Furthermore, he insists Pan-Germanism must take precedence over colonies. "German Austria," said Hitler, "must return again to the great German Fatherland. Nor is this because of economic considerations. Even if this union from an economic point of view were of no importance, yet it must take place. The same blood belongs to a common Reich."

"The German people possesses no moral right to colonial activity so long as it is not able to unite its own sons in a common state. Only when the boundaries of the Reich include even the last German . . . does there arise from the need of its people the right to acquire foreign soil."

Moreover, Germany's needs are immediate rather than remote. Her economists admit there is some truth in the British contention that "colonies do not pay." At least they do not pay pending development, and development requires a good many years.

In 1914 Germany was one of the foremost of commercial nations. Yet her trade with her colonies—the one she now wants returned—amounted to less than 1 per cent of her total world trade. Since the war she has kept at least 50 per cent of that trade. Hence it is not the loss of her colonies which now upsets her economic balance.

Herr Hitler is aware of all this. His own experts have reported to him that even were every foot of the lost colonies returned to the Reich immediately it would be years before there were any real dividends.

On the other hand, eastern Europe offers quick returns—if the Reich could only expand in that direction. There is lovely Czechoslovakia, already well nigh surrounded by Germany or Germanic peoples. Beyond this lies Roumania. Still farther lies the Ukraine, the Russian bread basket.

Thus it is thereabouts that European chancelleries look for trouble when Germany and her allies begin to put the extra loud pedal on the need of colonies.

MUSSOLINI AFTER THEM

To the Editor:—In regard to the agreement signed between Germany, Italy and Japan, I might say that this is not pointed against Communism at all. It is not the red Communists of Russia Mussolini is after, but rather the white Communists of Great Britain, United States and of those Scandinavian countries.

JAPS. AND ORANGES

To the Editor:—In a recent issue of The Times there was a graphic cartoon of a group of Chinese laborers, men women and children with pitiable bundles of clothing, etc., fleeing under the shadow of Japanese bombing planes. The same issue reported arrival of a shipment of Jap Mandarin oranges. The Japanese Imperialists, who have already stolen large portions of China and are now trying to steal the balance (eventually shutting us all out from the Orient) might distribute their Mandarin oranges to the thousands of Chinese laborers (instead of murdering them. Our turn in nearly empty British Columbia may be next. Have you ever heard the shriek of a falling bomb? If not ask any old soldier, many of whom are tin canners, recently jailed in Vancouver.

DO WHATEVER HE LIKED WITH HIS PAY

To the Editor:—In some unexplainable manner Mr. A. R. Sherck, in a letter in your columns, turns up with the idea that under Social Credit the money of the country would be "nontransferable."

How Mr. Sherck got this idea I will not attempt to discover, but the truth is that under Social Credit money would be exactly the same as it is now; each person's money would be his own, no matter how he received it, and he could spend it on anything he wished, or save it.

Mr. Sherck seems to see this himself in a rather dim way, for he goes on to speak of "the medium of exchange" not being "lost or annihilated," which is correct. Obviously, when money is added to the volume already in existence, because the growth of the economic system required it, it would be silly to cancel or destroy it unless the economic system began to shrink, which is unlikely.

Mr. Sherck also quotes an article by the Victoria branch of the Social Credit League of British Columbia as stating that under Social Credit "the employees on receiving their pay, instead of perceiving with it for the goods they produced, may use it to produce more or other goods on the original credit loan."

Diligent search by the writer has failed to find this statement in the article referred to. Let Mr. Sherck and all employees be reassured; under Social Credit an employee would take his pay, with the national dividend added to it, and spend it on whatever he liked, or save it, or bury it at the bottom of the garden.

Social Credit is a means to give people freedom, and not to boss them around and snoop into what they spend their own honestly earned pay on.

Good Value For B.C. Road Expenditures

MacPherson Claims Real Job Being Done on Highway Development

"This government is doing a real job on the highways. I don't think there was ever a time when the taxpayer received as much value for his road dollar as at present," declared Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, in a warm defence of his road policy in the British Columbia Legislature last night.

Mr. MacPherson told how the road expenditure of his department in three years—including new work and maintenance—had been only $9,000,000, compared with $22,000,000 spent in three years by the Tolmie government, but had increased the amount of surfaced highway on the trans-provincial route from 67 to 520 miles, leaving only 444 miles to be surfaced between Vancouver and Crow's Nest.

STANDARD CLASS OF ROAD

Of great importance, he said, was the fact that a standard road policy had now been laid down. No matter whether the roads were on Vancouver Island, up in the Cariboo, or down in Fernie, they were built to standard specifications directed from Victoria.

Hotly denying that the construction road money had been distributed all over the province for patronage reasons, the minister said the Dominion, under its agreements, had insisted that a portion of the labor be relief. As a result the expenditures had been spread around where they would give work to relief cases.

Mr. MacPherson outlined some of the difficulties of road maintenance and improvement in the province, where there was one mile of highway for every 37 people.

PROGRESSIVE PLAN

With what money it had available the department had pursued a progressive policy of surfacing each year the parts of the main trunk roads that were up to standard and preparing further stretches for the following year.

Hospital Grant Basis Altered

Weir Submits Changes to House; Basic Rates Not Touched

Changes in the basis for government and municipal grants to hospitals will be made under an amendment to the Hospitals Act introduced in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary.

The measure eliminates a patient's day of discharge from hospital as one for which grants are made. It removes a clause which allowed a municipality to contribute daily payments only to a hospital to which it was chief contributor. It eliminates special agreements which municipalities were allowed to make with hospitals to make a lump sum grant instead of 70 cents a day per patient.

An explanation given by Dr. Weir said:

"The financial relationships between the government and the hospitals on the one hand, and the municipalities and the hospitals on the other hand, will be affected to some extent by the new act.

"While the exact financial effects of the act are difficult to determine, it is believed that neither the hospitals nor the municipalities will be harmed financially. On the other hand, there is every reason to believe that the government's new hospital programme will lead progressively to financial advantages to both the hospitals and the municipalities."

OBJECT TO NEW SPEED

Conservative Members Say 30 Miles on Highways Will Be Too Slow

Conservative members objected to proposed reduced speed rates on highways when a bill amending the Motor Vehicle Act, sponsored by Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, passed its second reading in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

The amendment says that cars shall travel at 30 miles an hour in municipal boundaries, 40 miles on highways in the daytime, and 30 miles at night.

Mr. Wismer said the government had found motor car accidents were piling up by leaps and bounds. There had been an increase in a year of 245 accidents, and the death toll in British Columbia had mounted by 22. Examinations of drivers, he felt, would prohibit this toll from still further increasing. He said such examination was carried out in many states and in many provinces, and was having a good effect.

Another clause covers ownership liability, which would prohibit the owner of a car from lending his machine to one incapable of driving and then being free from responsibility should an accident occur.

"I consider this an important matter, if we can accomplish something to make driving less dangerous to the public," Mr. Wismer said.

Macgregor Macintosh, Conservative, the Islands, said he did not like so much quoting about what the United States had done. He said he agreed with the suggested examination of drivers, but thought the rate of driving on the open highway too slow.

"If you place a definite speed limit you are going to encourage people to break the law," he said. "With the modern car, with its excellent brakes, a driver hardly knows how fast he is going, and can stop within a few feet."

"He can't stop quick enough to stop the cause of all these deaths," Attorney-General Wismer answered him.

Mr. Macintosh replied it was not fast driving that caused the accidents, but a mixture of alcohol and gasoline. He felt 40 or 30 miles, on a good highway, at night, was not excessive.

R. W. Bruhn, Independent, Salmon Arm, said he approved of the 30-mile limit in towns and villages, but thought the 40-mile limit on highways too slow.

Fred Croun, Liberal, Vancouver East, said the government was legislating not only for the 100,000 people who drove cars, but for the 750,000 people in the province who did not operate them. If speed rates were not cut the death rate was going to increase, he said.

L. H. Eyres, Conservative, Chilliwack, felt the proposed speed rate would damage the tourist traffic, and he thought the only way to enforce it would be to have manufacturers put governors on the machines. He said the police force would have to be increased 50 per cent to enforce the traffic regulations. Most accidents occurred when cars were traveling between 50

CATARHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises, go to your drugstore and get 1 ounce of Permin (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Grogged nostrils should be open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Chinese Tea To Aid War Victims

Unrelaxing in their efforts on behalf of their unfortunate countrymen in the Far East, the women's committee of the Chinese Benevolent Association have decided to hold another tea and bazaar at the association headquarters, Fisgard Street, Friday and Saturday, in aid of the refugees from the war-torn area of China.

The affair is being organized along similar lines to the earlier bazaar, but on a larger scale, and with the additional interest of one or two speakers who have recently arrived from Shanghai, and an exhibition of photographs of actual scenes about the areas destroyed by airplane raids and high explosive bombs.

Between 30 and 40 Chinese girls and women in their beautiful native costume will be in attendance at the various stalls on which Chinese embroideries, Chinese fancywork, Oriental porcelains, toys, dolls and other interesting and attractive articles will lend their decorative color. About 30 Chinese firms of the city have assisted with contributions.

Mrs. Wah Quan is the general convenor and will superintend the tea arrangements. The affair will be open each day from 2 till 10.

Indians of the western deserts were enterprising enough to dig wells for water, and sites of these Indian wells are still known.

Weddings

FORSTER-PEARCE

A pretty wedding was quietly solemnized at the home of Rev. T. H. McAllister of Qu-Appelle Street, Wednesday evening, November 24, when Miss Alice Marguerite Pearce second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pearce, Langford Street, Victoria West, became the bride of Mr. James C. Forster, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Forster, Crease Avenue, Saanich.

The bridegroom, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a powder blue dress, with hat and veil to match and blue accessories, and wore a corsage of pink carnations. Miss Mary E. Forster, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, dressed in a pink flowered dress, trimmed with brown and brown accessories with a corsage of roses.

Mr. Robert Stewart, brother-in-law of the bride, was groomsmen. Following the ceremony a buffet supper for the bridal party and guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Pearce, mother of the bride, received the guests, assisted by the Misses Joan and Gladys Pearce and Mrs. R. Pearce. Mrs. G. E. Forster, mother of the groom, unfortunately was unable to attend, being at present a patient in the hospital.

The parlor and dining-room were beautifully decorated with tapers and flowers, and the tea table was centred by the wedding cake, surrounded with vases containing yellow, bronze and white chrysanthemums. Many gifts were received by the popular couple.

Has Birthday

Sister Mary Theodore, venerable member of St. Ann's, who today is receiving congratulations on her 81st birthday. Born near Oswego, New York, Sister Mary Theodore entered the Mother House of the Order at Lachine, Que., when 15 years of age, and three years later came to Victoria, and has spent practically the last 60 years on Vancouver Island. She is historian and curator of St. Ann's, and the author of two books dealing with pioneer Catholic history: "Pioneer Nuns of British Columbia" and "The Chapel of the Years," in addition to a number of devotional books.

War made cruel and fantastic sport of Hallie Daigh. He was reported missing in action. Actually, he related, he passed the final year of the war in a German prison camp, and was in a hospital for seven or eight months after that. The effects of poison had, he said, weakened his memory for a few years after he was released from the hospital in 1920. Daigh, in his own words, was in a fog.

"I was still suffering from the gas, I guess. I reckon I just wandered around, not knowing particularly what I was doing." Complete recovery, he said, brought no solution of his problems; he didn't know which way to turn. He went on:

"I had been told indirectly that my parents were dead, so I thought I had no more home ties there. I didn't know what had happened to my wife, but after all those years I was afraid to interfere."

A structural steel worker, he piled his trade as he could. His wayward travels brought him finally to Springfield. Meeting an acquaintance from nearby Edinburgh, where he and his former wife once lived, Daigh learned the other half of his story. Believing him dead, his bride had obtained a bill of divorce and later remarried.

So Hallie Daigh called upon her to meet her husband, Otis Jennings, and their sturdy son. He also found his father alive, now 75 years old. But it was true his mother was dead.

The future? "I'll probably pull out tomorrow," he mused ruefully. "Where to, I don't know. Just keep on the move, I guess."

Enoch Arden Returns Home

SPRINGFIELD, Me. (AP)—An Enoch Arden of a long disbanded army came back from war yesterday and found the bride he left behind had divorced him, remarried and was the mother of a 17-year-old son by her second husband.

The bewildered veteran, Hallie Daigh, 39 years old and formerly footloose since 1920, said he had heard nothing about his former wife since shortly after he bade her farewell at San Antonio, Tex., 20 years ago, to go to France with the Seventh Field Artillery.

War made cruel and fantastic sport of Hallie Daigh. He was reported missing in action. New Hat Modeled After Lamb Chop

NEW YORK (AP)—Mm. Elsa Schiaparelli, Parisian designer, let out the secret today of where fashion authorities get their inspiration. Her latest hat "creation," she admitted, was modeled after a lamb chop.

"I like to amuse myself, so I do so through some of my creations," she said. "If I didn't I would die."

Owing to the W.M.S. concert being held in the Sunday school hall of the Metropolitan Church, the Chummy Club will postpone their meeting until December 10.

Smart Set At Opening Of "Met"

NEW YORK (AP)—Opera was in full swing again today at the Metropolitan Opera House after the most "plushy" opening night since 1929.

The Astors, the Vanderbilts, the Belmonts and other bulwarks of New York society were represented last night in the audience of 4,000 that heard Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde"—along with the President's mother, an ambassador's wife, a U.S. senator and Libby Holman (minus her stockings).

If yards of ermine, large emeralds, dazzling diamond necklaces and cigarettes are any gauge of business conditions, the opera opening proved something. There was an abundance of riches in attire.

In contrast to the year when Ganna Walska's ropes of emeralds were the only ones at the opera, there was a double rope of them on Mrs. Christian Holmes, a two-inch emerald adorning Mrs. Clarence Mackay, the former Anna Case of the "Met," and an emerald tiara or two in addition.

Mrs. Walter Burd Succumbs in Saskatchewan; Husband Lies in Hospital

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP).—Mrs. Walter Burd, wife of the Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Saskatchewan, died here today from head injuries received in an automobile accident last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Burd did not regain consciousness during the 90 hours she was in hospital.

Bishop Burd was in a nearby ward when his wife died. He, too, was injured in the accident, but not critically. His condition was considered too grave, however, to permit moving him to the side of his wife.

While traveling north from Saskatoon, the bishop's car collided with one driven by Earl Hardisty, Saskatoon traveler, about a mile north of Duck Lake. The cars crashed head-on as each

"I don't like putting things on my face, Jane Seymour!"

As I watched a young friend of mine, who uses nothing but powder, scrubbing away with her puff, I couldn't help saying, "What a pity you don't take more care of your skin!"

"Oh, I don't like putting things on my face," she said. "Then why use powder?" I said, "and especially a shade that makes you look as if you'd dipped your nose into a bag of flour! I do wish you'd let me show you how nice you COULD look!"

Rather unwillingly, she submitted, and I made her up with the Petal Cream and Peach Powder that exactly suited her coloring. "Of course, it's simply wicked to do this over an unprepared skin," I said. "What you need is five minutes every night with Cleansing Cream, Juniper Skin Tonic, and Orange Skin Food."

Only a short while later I met her again. And what a change! Her skin looked so cared-for and lovely!

"You see I went and bought those preparations of yours," she said. "And I've been using them ever since."

I WAS pleased. Just in case you follow her example, you can get all my preparations at any smart cosmetic counter, and also ask for my book, "Speaking Frankly." If you have any difficulty in obtaining it, please write me: Jane Seymour, Lumsden Bldg., Toronto, and I will gladly send you a copy with my compliments.

Fuel Regulation In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver city council Monday gave third reading to a bill regulating dealers in wood, sawdust and hogfuel, and providing redress for the purchasing public from "irresponsible dealers."

Under the by-law every dealer must, at the time of delivering fuel, furnish the purchaser with a ticket bearing full particulars of the transaction and the dealer's signature.

Mayhew Is Canadian Of Three Generations

M.P.-elect Moved to Victoria to Recuperate in 1914 and Remained

Robert Wellington "Bob" Mayhew, Victoria's new M.P.-elect, once sold butter and eggs to get enough money to go back to school. That was 37 years ago.

Today, after 20 years of public service in Victoria, he has been accorded the highest honor in the powers of the local voters to bestow, their representative at Ottawa.

R. W. "BOB" MAYHEW

Mr. Mayhew is a Canadian of three generations. He was born in Cobden, Ontario, in October 13, 1880. Both his parents and grandparents were born in Canada.

After his education in Cobden schools he went into dairying until he had saved enough to put him through Renfrew Collegiate Institute, which he entered at the age of 20 years.

The call of the west lured him and he went to Calgary in 1905, entering the real estate and insurance business.

Becoming ill, he came further west to Victoria in 1914 to convalesce. Victoria intrigued him from the start. He sold out his Calgary business and located here.

In the same year he came out he took over the newly-formed Sidney Roofing Company, and started production of roofing and building paper and boxboards. Since then the name of the firm has been changed to Sidney Roofing and Paper Company Limited, and has gradually expanded until it now employs 200 men.

Mr. Mayhew was married in Highgate, Ontario, to Grace E. Logan. They have three children, Robert Logan, 25; Charles Allan, 21, and Jean Edwards, 17.

Early associating himself with the public and community life in Victoria, Mr. Mayhew has held offices on various organizations.

For two years he served as a councillor in Oak Bay and then put in three years as reeve of that progressive municipality, which still boasts the finest financial position of any municipality in the province.

He is a past president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Victoria Rotary Club, president of the Vancouver Island division, Canadian Manufacturers' Association and vice-president of the B.C. division.

Back in Renfrew, Ontario, Mr. Mayhew helped organized the branch of the Y.M.C.A., and except for two years has been a director of that organization in Renfrew, Calgary and Victoria ever since 1902.

He belongs to First United Church and is a member of the Union Club.

Mr. Mayhew's chief recreation is golfing.

Today he laughingly commented that he had been "somewhat sauced" into the political field and realized he would have some adjusting to do. He felt, however, he was familiar with the problems of Victoria and Vancouver Island, and could present them at Ottawa.

Baseball players are apt to be at top form at 28 years, golf players from 25 to 35, bowlers 30 to 34, says a psychologist, who has checked up on best ages for various sports.

Classes at U.B.C. May Be Curtailed

Minister of Education Admits Congestion at University to Legislature

Congestion was being felt at the present time at the University of British Columbia, and it may be necessary to curtail the classes next year, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, told the Legislature last night when the sum of $401,800 for the university was being discussed in estimates committee.

Replying to R. W. Bruhn, Independent, Salmon Arm, who asked the minister if it was true the university was overcrowded, Dr. Weir said there were 2,500 pupils there at the present time, while there was accommodation for only 1,600.

Colin Cameron, C.C.F., Comox, asked the minister how the classes could be cut down, and while Dr. Weir said he did not necessarily say the classes would be curtailed, he thought that possibly the first 500 highest freshmen students would be accepted for enrolment and the list then closed.

As it was, he intimated, it was difficult to pass examination for entrance into the university, the matriculation examination being very stiff.

WORKED-OWN WAY

Eighty per cent of the students at the university were working their way through, with summer employment, Dr. Weir said, in reply to Mrs. D. G. Steeves, C.C.F., North Vancouver, who said the money for the university should be expended in a more democratic way, so that all the youth of the province, instead of just a section, should have an opportunity to attend.

Teachers had told her, she said, that many top-mark pupils were unable to enter the university because they could not afford it. She thought government bursaries could aid such clever pupils. It was not a people's university, she said, and she felt the people should know more about what went on there, considering the money spent on it was from the public treasury.

She said she felt the time was coming when new buildings for the university would be needed in the not far distant future, although new high school buildings were more necessary, at present, in Vancouver.

Dr. Weir replied it was said that Toronto was growing up because it was now not conscious of its university.

"Vancouver hasn't yet reached that point," he said.

He expressed himself in favor of bursaries, and said he would like to see a fund of from $25,000 to $50,000 for the best pupils of the province. He thought some of British Columbia's industrial magnates might establish such bursaries. It was government policy, he added, not to interfere with the internal operation of the university, but to leave that to the president and board of governors.

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal, Yale, made a plea for students of the interior of the province who were unable to attend the university because of the cost. He remarked the fees at the University of Washington were much cheaper than those at the B.C. University.

Dr. Weir, in reply, compared the fees with other universities in Canada, and said they were much lower, for instance, than those of McGill.

Mr. Cameron asked Dr. Weir if it was the intention of the government to cut out examinations, noting a vote of $5,000 for the cost of examinations. Dr. Weir said that the system of accrediting for high schools was now under preparation, but there was still some need for examinations. The vote had been put from $8,000 but could not be cut out all at once.

E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, thought unemployed teachers should get an opportunity at examiners' positions, and Dr. Weir pointed out that if they had the qualifications this would be possible, although, generally, the tests were set by teachers who were fully familiar with the school work.

Mr. Cameron discussed the possibility of having specialized teachers traveling to rural schools, and Dr. Weir replied it might have been considered for such subjects as art and music, but it was a little too soon for such a step. Moreover the personal touch was a big thing in teaching.

E. T. Kenney, Liberal, Skeena, asked that summer schools be started later to give teachers from up-country more time to get down to the lower coast. He thought an extra week would do, but Dr. Weir said that if this was done it would leave the teachers little time after the school to enjoy their vacation.

E. E. Winch pressed for an increase in the grants for adult education and physical recreational training, saying these courses needed more equipment.

A new vote of $2,000 for visual education drew comment from both sides of the House.

Dr. Weir reviewed what was being done along this line in other parts of Canada, noting that Quebec had taken the lead. Other provinces were following suit in building up film libraries, slides and similar equipment.

Shake-up In Champion Detroit Hockey Club

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

BRITAIN'S ranking professional golfer in point of consistency during 1937 was C. A. Whitcombe of Crews Hill, Enfield, captain of this year's Ryder Cup team. Official figures covering 28 rounds of major tournament play give Whitcombe an average of 71.64, and the honor of being the first player to hold the Harry Vardon Memorial Trophy, awarded to the ranking player in the United Kingdom.

P. J. Mahon, the young Irish golfer from the Royal Dublin Club, Dollymount, consolidated his claim to the title of "champion runner-up" by finishing second with a 26-round average of 71.69. In third place was Henry Cotton, British open champion and one of the biggest money-makers in the game. He wound up with a season's average of 71.77 in 22 selected and restricted events.

Despite his triumph, Whitcombe finished first in only one major competition—the Dunlop Southport tournament. Mahon's performance also discloses a similar paradox, for he failed to win an open event. He was successful in the Irish professional championship, but that was a closed test. However, he was one of the most successful money players during the season, and one of the few who managed to meet traveling expenses from his winnings.

Alf Padgham, whom some of the English sports writers have dubbed "the big disappointment" of the year, enjoyed an average of 72.89 for 28 rounds. This figure, however, dropped him to 11th place in the list, in contrast to his sequence of successes last year when most of the prize plums fell to his skill. In the 1937 campaign he failed to win a single tournament. With Cotton, however, he is still regarded as one of the most dependable tournament players and certain to be back in the limelight. He is only 31.

The final averages are a tribute to the Ryder Cup selection committee as seven of its nominees finished among the first 12 players. W. J. Cox, D. J. Rees and A. Perry just missed the "charmed circle."

Adams Breaks Up Great Front Line In Drastic Move

Barry-Lewis-Aurie High-scoring Trio Last Year; Two Players Go

One Game Tonight

Jack Adams, who probably knows little about wheat selling but who makes a dividend-paying proposition of running a hockey team for grain magnate James Norris Sr., had a "stop-loss" order in today in an effort to shake his Detroit Red Wings from a disastrous slump.

There seemed little doubt the order was necessary for Wings, world champions for the last two seasons and top-heavy favorites at the start of this National Hockey League season, have won only two of nine games played to date. But when the shake-up came its thoroughness caught most followers by surprise.

The "call for more margin" saw a general rearranging of the team, featuring the breaking up of Detroit's high-scoring forward line of Marty Barry, Herbie Lewis and Larry Aurie. Too, waivers were asked on Johnny Sorrell, veteran left winger, and red-headed Pete Kelly. To complete the remodeling, Howie Mackie would be lifted from Pittsburgh Hornets, a farm team.

That's the way Adams plans things, according to his announcement yesterday, and if he carries it through it means the shuffling of a hockey line that led all others in point scoring in the N.H.L. last year. The Barry-Aurie-Lewis combine clicked for 119 points, made up of 54 goals and 65 assists then.

NEW SET UP

Adams had nearly a week to try and mold this new machine of his, for Wings don't play again until December 5, when they encounter New York Americans at Detroit. When they take the ice then this is the way he hopes to have his forwards lined up: Barry at centre with Mackie and Carl Liscombe, another Hornet recruit, on the wings; Lewis playing with Gord Pettinger and Mud Bruneteau; Syd Howe the middle man on a line with Hec Kilrea and Clarence Drouillard. The extra man up front would be Aurie, who led all Detroit scorers in goals last year with 23.

To make things a little worse for the Detroit mentor, Normie Smith has been ordered to bed because of an influenza attack and won't be able to take over his goaling duties in practice until Friday. However, the mite goalie's condition is not supposed to be serious.

Only one game is up for decision in the N.H.L. tonight, with King Clancy's Montreal Maroons, tied with Montreal Canadiens for the cellar in the league's Canadian section, hooking up with Bill Stewart's Chicago Black Hawks, third place team in the United States division.

BOXING

TORONTO—Baby Yack, 118½, Toronto, Canadian bantamweight champion, outpointed Henry Hook, 118½, Indianapolis (10).
Louisville — Frankie Hughes, 150, Terre Haute, Ind., outpointed Johnny Davis, 159, Henderson, Ky. (10).

Washington—Tony Dupre, 123, Manchester, N.H., outpointed Baby Manuel, 124½, Washington (8).

New York — Mickey Farber, 134½, outpointed Johnny Cabello, 130½, Puerto Rico (8); Italo Colonnello, 202, Italy, stopped Jack Moran, 188½, Ashland, Pa. (2); Jim Robinson, 207, Philadelphia, knocked out Joe Lipps, 176, Atlanta (1).

Sarasota, Fla.—Sixto Morales, 137, Cuba, outpointed Tony Monin, 142, Tampa, Fla.
Trenton, N.J. — Johnny Pastor, 163, Hightstown, N.J., outpointed Stanley Pyontek, 168, Trenton (8).

In recent motor measurements in California, state officials found that 95 per cent of the state's motorists drove at speeds less than 55 miles an hour.

Expect Big Entry For City Net Play

Victoria Championships to Get Under Way at Willows Monday

A record field is expected by officials in charge of the city badminton championship tourney, scheduled to get under way at the Willows Club courts on Monday, with virtually all reigning champions entered in defence of their laurels.

Entries will close on Thursday. As in the past, these championships are open only to clubs within a radius of 25 miles of the city.

The major entries come from the four big clubs, Brentwood, Willows, Victoria and the Garrison, but the smaller clubs are always in the thick of the battle, and can be relied upon to spring a few surprises.

From Brentwood this year, the present singles champions, George Lane and Joyce Thompson, are entered in defence of their titles. Strong entries such as Drenman Hines, Jimmy Watt and the Sluggett sisters, holders of

City Champ Joins Hole-in-one Club

Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, holder of the women's city golf championship, gained additional honors yesterday afternoon at the Uplands Club, when she sank her tee shot on the 16th for a hole-in-one and became the first woman to register a "dodo" at that club.

The champion was playing with Mrs. James McIlraith, runner-up for the city title, at the time of her feat.

HORSES ARE "SPONGED"

Investigation Started at Bowie Track; Had Epidemic Last Year

BOWIE, M.D.—An immediate investigation was started by Bowie race track stewards yesterday, after two horses, entered in races, had been found "sponged."

An epidemic of sponging horses at this track last year caused the Maryland State legislature to pass a law terming it a felony.

The two horses, W. E. Johnson's White Sand, which finished fourth in the fifth race, and Johnson's Master Lad, withdrawn from the sixth race, are trained by C. P. Miles, Jr.

"Sponging" horses is a method of slowing them down by placing small, surgical sponges in their nostrils, making breathing difficult.

Deadlocked With Ignat and Diot For Leadership in New York Bike Race

NEW YORK — Two teams shared the lead today as New York's 63rd international whirl of wheels at Madison Square Garden entered its second day. The leaders were the Canadian team of Doug and Torchy Peden from Victoria, B.C., and the French team of Emile Ignat and Emile Diot.

The sprints were interrupted for 15 minutes last night when Aldo Bini of Italy and Omer Debruycker of Belgium, paired together, took a bad spill on a curve. Both returned to the race after they were patched up.

PAY THANKS TO SUPPORTERS

B. A. McKelvie and J. King Gordon Congratulate Victor

B. A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate, made the following statement on yesterday's election:

"I wish to thank the voters who expressed their confidence in the stand that I took on the issues of the election. I deeply appreciate the valiant efforts of those who worked so hard for the success of Conservative principles. I also wish to extend my congratulations to Mr. Mayhew on his decisive victory. While naturally I am somewhat disappointed, I take satisfaction from the fact that my campaign was conducted cleanly and free from personalities. At the outset of the contest I said that I hoped the conclusion of the fight would permit me to maintain the personal respect of my opponents. I trust that condition exists in their minds."

Prof. J. King Gordon, C.C.F. candidate, made the following statement:

"It has been a good clean fight. We did not win, but our campaign for peace and social security has helped focus attention upon these aspirations of the Canadian people."

"I wish to take this opportunity of congratulating Mr. Mayhew, and wishing him strength and courage to represent the people of this city in the high office to which they have elected him."

"We have lost an engagement, but we are not beaten, for a man is not beaten unless his spirit is beaten. And the people's fight for security and peace will not end until the victory is won."

"To the press of Victoria I wish to extend my thanks for their fair and accurate reporting. They have upheld the tradition of fair play which one naturally associates with the city of Victoria."

"To my loyal friends and supporters, known and unknown, I extend my deepest thanks. They are representatives of a great cause who in these days, against great odds and without any hope of personal reward, have given their best because they believed that the cause they were fighting for was the most worthwhile thing in life. They will remember that tomorrow is another day."

CITY BATHED IN SUNSHINE

Victoria Closes November With a Day Like Spring

November went from Victoria today in a blaze of spring-like weather, while other parts of the northwest were blanketed in dense fog.

After a chilly morning the warmth of the sun was felt, despite a cool breeze from the north. Yesterday the weather was similar, and for several hours in the afternoon it was possible to sunbathe in protected spots along the beaches.

Less sunshine and more rain marked November weather, the report of which was issued this morning by observers at the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill.

The month also saw the heaviest November snowfall in 26 years. The heaviest November snowfall on record at the Observatory occurred in 1911.

The maximum temperature for November was 43 degrees, which was two degrees below the average. The maximum was 59 on November 1 and 3; the minimum was 29 on November 13 and 14, and the minimum on the grass was 24 on November 14.

Rainfall amounted to 4.56 inches, with a snowfall of eight and a half inches, making a total precipitation of 5.41 inches, which was 1.13 inches above the average.

Sunshine, not counting that of today, totaled 50 hours, which was 25 hours below average. Eight hours of sunshine was expected today.

Rainfall for the 11 months of 1937, ending today, has reached 24.34 inches, which was 1.88 inches above the average.

The sunset over the Straits and the Gulf yesterday afternoon was one of the most perfect of the autumn. Wisps of clouds were painted pink by the sun, and the Olympics stood out bold and mauve in color across the placid waters of the Straits.

Delegation Interviews Cabinet on Newspaper Publicity For Drink

A petition urging prohibition of newspaper advertising of liquor was presented to the British Columbia cabinet today by a delegation from the British Columbia Temperance League, the United Church of Canada and kindred organizations.

The delegates were Dr. Willard Brewing, president of the United Church Conference of British Columbia; Dr. Hugh Dobson, secretary of the department of evangelization and social service for western Canada of the United Church; Dr. R. J. McIntyre, general secretary of the British Columbia Temperance League; Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria Temperance League; Mrs. John Hall, representing the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union; Dr. A. M. Imrie, representing the Victoria Ministerial Association; Rev. Nelson Harkness, president of the Baptist Convention of British Columbia; Dr. J. B. Rowell, representing the Regular Baptists; Rev. David Smith, moderator of the provincial synod of the Presbyterian Church, and Dr. W. G. Wilson.

Dr. Brewing, Dr. Dobson, Dr. Imrie and Dr. McIntyre, addressing the cabinet, said newspaper advertising was promoting a traffic which was dangerous to the nation's welfare. Such advertising had as its objective the capturing of youth. Its effects were already marked in the increased consumption of beer, wine and spirits, and in the rise of convictions for drunkenness, they said. They pointed to the increase of highway accidents as one result.

The petition claimed that newspaper advertising of liquor was contrary to the objects of the provincial liquor control system, and that the advertisements contained claims that were scientifically untrue.

TWO YEARS FOR THEFT OF CAR

Robert Watson Given Hard Labor With Term By Judge H. H. Shandley

Robert Watson, charged with stealing a truck owned by the W. H. Malkin Company Limited on November 18, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at hard labor by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today.

The accused entered a plea of guilty to the charge and details of the case were outlined by W. B. Lawson, who appeared for the Crown.

Mr. Lawson stated the delivery truck of Malkin had been stolen from in front of the store about 9.30 on the evening of November 18, had been driven into an alley off Johnson Street, where certain goods had been removed and had later been driven to the E. & N. depot. At that point the accused had been arrested.

Crown counsel cited a long record of past offences and convictions against the accused.

"Apparently you have been in prison more than you have been out," Judge Shandley remarked. "You appear to be a very dangerous person to be at large."

He then passed sentence of two years at hard labor.

PRINCIPLES OF SCOTTISH RACE

Emphasized on St. Andrew's Day, Says Speaker

"St. Andrew's Day is important because it is a time when Scotsmen the world over refresh in their memories the great principles of the Scottish race," declared Duncan McBride in an address to members of the Kwanis Club at luncheon today.

In speaking on the celebration, Mr. McBride described the enthusiasm with which Scots observe St. Andrew's Day. In the same way they pay homage to Robert Burns.

"The principle for which St. Andrew died, as a follower of Christ, has been the character basis of the Scottish race," said the speaker. The Scots he said, were not blessed with easy access to happiness but had built themselves up in spite of handicaps and not as a result of them.

Mr. McBride referred briefly to several of the more famous Scottish martyrs. He mentioned the Scots' contribution in the Great War. The cross of St. Andrew, he declared, was a symbol of Scottish sacrifice.

"Many criticisms of the Scots are unfounded. In spite of their downiness they are a humorous and friendly race. Most of the jokes about Scotsmen are made by themselves," Mr. McBride said.

The speaker quoted Burns in several instances and particularly in reference to the Swastika of Germany which, originally a religious emblem, was now used to symbolize a tyrannical dictatorship.

In keeping with the atmosphere of luncheon, Dudley Wickett contributed two vocal solos, "Border March" and "Annie Laurie."

Small Business Ways Discussed

Credit Granters Talk of Various Methods of Buying and Selling

M. J. Little introduced a discussion on "pepping up the small business" at the regular weekly luncheon of the Retail Credit Granters' Association in Spencer's dining-room this afternoon.

Mr. Little gave three rules for a young man entering business—small stock, quick turnover, and personal service. He emphasized the fact that a small storekeeper should not overbuy.

He discussed his methods of bookkeeping which interested other members of the association. They talked over the pros and cons of credit selling and whether it increased business or was a danger to it.

It was announced that Claude Harrison, city prosecutor, would address next Friday's meeting on the subject of "Bad Cheques."

G. A. A. Hebdon, president, was in the chair. H. B. Dawson, secretary, gave a short business report.

The orphanage bombing took place 15 days ago, but was reported only today to Ambassador Paul Emile Naggar by a French and an Italian father who had walked 10 days from Kashing to Ningpo and boarded a vessel for Shanghai.

The two missionaries brought 44 young Chinese seminarians with them to Shanghai, but said all other residents of the Sisters of Charity orphanage had been killed or were missing.

NUMBER OF RAIDS

They told Father Moulis, procurator of the Lazarist mission headquarters, the Japanese had bombed the orphanage frequently and finally destroyed six buildings.

During the attacks, the missionaries said, the sisters herded their charges into a dugout on the mission grounds, but one bomb scored a direct hit, killing 26 girls between the ages of 9 and 15, while another hit the nursery, killing 60 babies and wounding two Chinese sisters.

FRONT CHARGES

On the war front Tuesday the Japanese gained ground steadily on the central part, but were held up at the northern and southern extremities, where Chinese made stubborn stands.

DUMP BLOWS UP

NANKING (AP) — Nanking, preparing to meet the advancing Japanese army, was given a grim display of fireworks Tuesday when an ammunition dump blew up about 20 miles to the east of the city.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately learned.

CANADA WOULD FEED BRITAIN

Trade and Defence Policies Provide For War Needs, Says Gardiner

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Dominion Government's trade and national defence policies are designed to provide Great Britain with food in the event of another war, according to Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture.

"In days like these any statesman who makes his appeal on the basis of narrow nationalism is not serving the Empire," Mr. Gardiner said in addressing a Liberal Association meeting here Monday night. "If Britain is ever at war, there is only one place she can get food, and that is from the north American continent."

Referring briefly to the Liberal victory in the Victoria federal by-election Monday, when R. W. Mayhew was elected to the seat made vacant by the recent death of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative member, Mr. Gardiner said he saw in the voting a "mandate for the proposed Anglo-American trade treaty, and a justification for the defence policy of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence."

Close British-U.S. Links Are Urged

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times, in an editorial, today said the United States has lost its leadership in world affairs and called for co-operation between Britons and Americans to further the cause of peace.

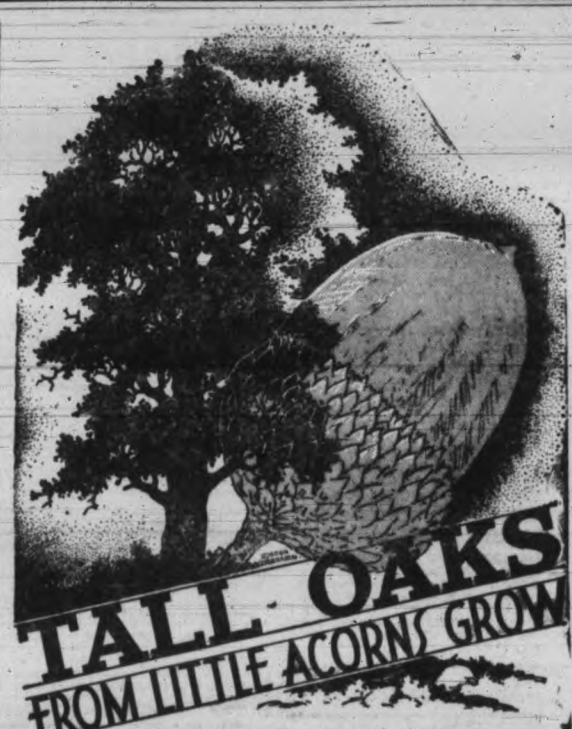

"The United States has lost its leadership in world affairs and to that fact largely can be attributed the impotence of the Nine-power Treaty conference in Brussels," the paper said.

"The reason for this loss of influence is plain: Treaty-breaking governments and dictators have become convinced that for no cause short of actual invasion will the United States initiate or join in any effective movement to assure world peace."

The paper continued: "On the pretext that a world alliance against Communism is

TRADE DISCUSSION

"The people of the United States are set against military expeditions, and rightly so."

"But there are effective peace measures, the most recent illustration being the decision of the British and American governments to negotiate a trade treaty. This should be supplemented by every possible kind of private and public co-operation between Britons and Americans and others who speak, if not the same language, at least the same spiritual tongue. Understandings on trade, money and credit will serve as certain weapons against treaty-breakers."

Verdict Given On Death in Jail

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Chester Crosley, 35-year-old convicted murderer and habitual criminal who boasted "I will be there with bells on" when death came, died in a jail cell last November 2 of asphyxiation, the causes of which were unknown, in the opinion of a coroner's jury.

The jury returned the open verdict Monday night. Crosley was to have been hanged next Monday for the murder of John McCormick, a guard in the Kingston penitentiary, where he was slain while Crosley was serving a life sentence.

FRESNO, Cal. (CP) — Dr. H. M. Ginsburg, county hospital director, today blamed acute alcoholism for the death of five-year-old Fidel Martinez. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martinez said their son had found a bottle of whisky near their home and drunk a third of a pint without their knowledge.

Hepburn's Trip Still Mystery

Ontario Premier Declines to Tell What He and Mr. King Discussed

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Mitchell Hepburn continued today to nurse the mystery of his visit to Ottawa and conference with Prime Minister King Monday.

"I have absolutely nothing to say. It's a mystery," he answered to all questions.

Mr. King, who left Ottawa Monday night on a two-week vacation tour to Florida, declined before his departure to comment on Mr. Hepburn's conference with him. It was a matter, the Prime Minister said, that particularly concerned Mr. Hepburn and any information that might be made public would have to come from the Ontario Premier.

C.C.F. Split On Trade Measure

Government's New Department Endorsed 34 to 11 in House

The seven C.C.F. members divided their allegiance in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday, when the government's bill for a new Department of Trade and Industry was endorsed 34-11 on second reading after a lengthy debate.

Mrs. D. G. Steeves, North Vancouver; Harold Winch, Vancouver East; E. E. Winch, Burnaby, and L. A. Shepherd, Delta, were the C.C.F. members who supported the bill along with all the Liberals. The Conservatives, R. W. Bruhn, Independent, Salmon Arm; Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie; and three C.C.F. members, Samuel Guthrie, Cowichan-Newcastle; Dr. J. Lyle Telford, Vancouver East; and Colin Cameron, Comox, opposed it.

Capt. Macgregor Macintosh, Conservative, the Islands, led off the opposition's attack on the measure, saying it was against the Conservative proposals for economy in government and duplicated services already existing. He said the publicity bureau of Victoria and Vancouver could do much better work in promoting tourist traffic than any government department.

Alderman Fred Crone, Liberal, Vancouver Centre, declared the tourist branch of the new department could work with the bureau in Victoria and Vancouver. And it would advertise the whole province, not just these two cities, in the same way as the Evergreen Playground Association publicized the Northwest.

ENOUGH DEPARTMENTS NOW—R. W. Bruhn, Independent, Salmon Arm, saw the new department as excess which might prove very costly. B.C. already had enough government departments for its population. As for the tourist traffic, much had to be done in improving the roads and the attractions.

Herbert Ansecomb, Conservative, Victoria, said the new department consolidated a number of existing branches of the government service and added a minister and deputy, increasing expenses without improving service. He said the economics and statistics branch should be vanishing instead of being made permanent.

Support for the bill was expressed by H. G. Perry, Liberal, Fort George, who said, however, he would like to see it go much further. He told how the government's $50,000 grant for lumber trade extension had been a factor in building up overseas lumber markets and said there was need for aggressive leadership in pushing B.C. commodities on world markets. With only an extra $20,000, voted the new minister could not do much at the start, but it was a step in the right direction.

BREAD ON WATERS

"We must cast our bread on the waters so that it will come back as sandwiches," he said.

Mrs. D. G. Steeves, C.C.F., North Vancouver, not opposing the bill, said, however, she thought the economics bureau should do more in the way of independent research than compiling reports such as one it recently finished on housing which, she said, "I could have compiled in two weeks by intelligent use of my own library and the public library." This was not the kind of work she expected from them.

Dr. Lyle Telford, C.C.F., Vancouver East, said the new department was nothing but a "little doll's house" and an insult to the business interests of the province, already well supplied with trade information from Ottawa. He then went into a discussion of flour costs and freight rates, saying the public were being "gypped of $39,000 a year for excessive freight rates on flour alone." All round the people were paying too much for their commodities. What was needed was efficiency of production so that B.C. products could compete successfully on the world markets.

COUNCIL'S WORK

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said Dr. Telford's statements about excessive prices was the best argument he had heard for the new department. He noted that the original Economic Council had been unsuccessful but said the statistics branch had become very important with its fact-finding studies which the ministers did not have time to carry out.

Colin Cameron, C.C.F., Comox, said if the new department would cut out the trade grants to the lumber industry it might get somewhere, and J. A. Paton, Conservative, Vancouver-Point Grey, said he thought the tourist trade could better be handled privately and that business men might lose interest when the government stepped in to direct it.

French Bread and Other Food

When a French housewife buys bread, she does not get the kind of loaf common in our land. The store has long thin loaves from which she can choose. Each loaf is about four feet long, and two or three inches in diameter. The loaves are not all of the same size. Some are a little longer or a little shorter than the average, or a little thicker or a little thinner. For this reason the shopkeeper weighs the loaf after it is picked out. The charge he makes for it depends on the weight.

Housewife choosing a loaf of bread at French grocery.

When taken home, the loaf is cut into scores of small pieces. Often the bread is eaten without butter. In many households, the breakfast is the only meal at which the family has butter on its bread.

The breakfast is a very simple meal in France — usually just bread and butter and coffee or hot chocolate. Coffee in France is served in two ways. There may be a small cup of black coffee, with no cream or milk, at the end of luncheon or dinner. For breakfast it is usual to have a large cup half-filled with coffee and half with hot milk.

In some, but not all, homes the noonday meal is the dinner and the evening is supper. Both are likely to be rather heavy, and both have several courses. Soup, fish, meat and vegetables, salad, dessert, cheese and coffee come along one after another. The plates may be changed three or four times during a meal.

The other evening I watched a waiter serve a meal to a dozen persons seated at a long-table in a Paris home. The etiquette of his work made it necessary for him to serve the oldest woman first, then the next oldest, until at last he reached a 15-year-old girl. Then he went to the oldest man, the next oldest, and down to an 11-year-old boy.

Since the people were not seated according to age, the waiter had to go first to one side, then to the other, then back again to the first side. I kept count, and found that during the meal he walked from side to side of the table 27 times!

French cooks are noted for their skill. During all my travels I have not found food cooked so well in any other country. As a rule, I do not eat very much food, but this time in Paris I have found such a good chef that I have taken a "second helping" almost every time it was offered.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1937
Benefic aspects rule strongly today and their effect should be stimulating alike to trade and social interests. But it is not an auspicious date for beginning anything. Favorable influences direct men and women who exercise any sort of authority. Government officials should benefit. Women are well directed by the stars, which encourage generous expenditures for Christmas and extravagant hospitalities. Modistes and milliners now will benefit through a vogue for costly attire. Theaters of every sort will enjoy a profitable winter season, when there will be a desire for amusement and expenditures will be liberal. Restaurants and night clubs will reap big returns. Manufacturers will employ large forces to fill orders accompanied by demands for quick delivery. Ship and airplane builders will profit.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Is there any technique that is usual for a girl to use in breaking her engagement? I take it for granted that my fiancée has called things off because she has passed into silence and I haven't been able to get a word out of her for the last four weeks. My letters begging for an explanation bring no answer and the long-distance telephone operator invariably sing-songs "they say she isn't in" when I try to get her over the wire. There is no reason for her change of attitude toward me as we have had no disagreement of any nature whatever. I still write to her every day and every week-end I send her a little gift of some sort, as I have done ever since we became engaged. These are accepted but not acknowledged. She hangs on to the Kohinoor Jr. that I slipped on her finger with so much pride, although she knows darn good and well that I still owe a hundred bucks on it, and because of the fact that she hasn't returned the ring I am holding to the hope, forlorn though it be, that perhaps everything will work out all right before long. When all is said and done it is her privilege to break the engagement and if that is what she wants to do I will step out of the picture, but I would like to know where I stand.

Answer: Well, I'd say that the lady has waited you out into the air and that you are standing in the great open spaces, romantically speaking. Also, I deduce that there are two reasons why your sweetie has suddenly ceased to answer your letters and let the silence of the grave descend upon her. One is that she has fallen out of love with you and in love with some other man and she is ashamed to tell you of her fickleness. But the main reason is that she means to keep that diamond ring and she doesn't intend to enter into any argument about it.

So just charge the Kohinoor up to educational expenses and forget it. And in this particular case I think your experience will be worth all it costs in the pangs of unrequited love and hard cash. For a man is lucky to find out before marriage, instead of afterward, whether she is marrying him because she loves him or because she thinks she can get luxuries out of him. He is more than lucky if a girl who is changeable and liable to shift the objects of her affection does it on the safe side of the altar and thus save him alimony.

I regret to have to tell you that, so far as I know, etiquette authorities have not laid down any technique for breaking engagements, so there is no rule on how to do it properly. Every girl does it according to her own way. The tactful pick a quarrel with the young man and tell him that inasmuch as their natures are so incompatible it will be folly for them to marry and they had best call the marriage off. The sympathetic try to save the wound they deal by telling dear John how broken-hearted they are at finding out that they were mistaken in their feelings, but while they can never be their's they will always cherish the memory of the many hours they have spent together, etc., etc. And the very, very sweet girls always end by telling the chap they are jitting that they will be a sister to him.

But the method your ex-fiancee has taken of breaking the engagement by just going dumb is so brutal as to have no justification because it leaves you out on a limb, so to speak, not knowing how or why or wherefore you lost your love. And your ring.

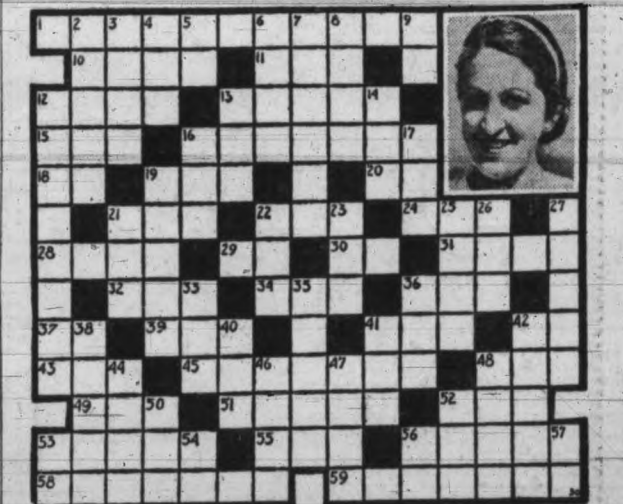

But you can comfort yourself with one reflection, and that is that any engagement that can be broken should be broken, and if either a man or a woman doubt their love or their suitability for each other before marriage, not only the honest thing but also the kind thing is for either he or she to break a promise whose keeping would wreck their lives.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune. Old persons will find joy in aiding the young. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly intelligent and industrious. Subjects of the sign of Sagittarius usually are exceedingly independent as well as ambitious. John Joseph Cantwell, Roman Catholic prelate, was born on this day, 1874. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Queen Alexandra, English sovereign, 1844; Mathilde Heron, actress, 1836; and Beth Thomas, manufacturer, 1816.
